50 Hurt As Bay City Cable Cars Crash

DEATH NEARS FOR VICTIMS OF COLLISION

Heavily Laden with Office Workers, Carrier Dashes To Foot of Steep Street

SPEEDS AT 60 MILES

Bleeding, Screaming Mass Of Humanity Picked Up Amid Mass of Wreckage

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—Fifty persons were injured, some probably fatally, when two cable cars crashed in head-on collision at the bottom of the steep California street here today.

The cars were both heavily loaded with office employees on their way to work. The majority of them were girls and women.

None had died up to noon. There were several, however, whose injuries were expected to bring death within a few hours.

The crash came when downtown San Francisco was moving in its morning rush. The collision was heard for blocks. Buses stopped and streets and sidewalks near the scene of the accident were filled with rushing crowds, who hampered the frantic work of ambulance attendants and policemen.

Gathers Speed In Descent
An eastbound cable car, several blocks from the scene of the crash, got out of control. At Stockton street, near the top of the hill, its brakes refused to stop. Gliding down the sloping rails at momentarily increasing speed, it passed two intersections without mishap.

A short distance below the intersection at Kearny street, the car ran down a meat truck, probably fatally injuring the driver.

The collision did not stop its mad descent.

Passengers realized their danger. They tried to jump, but were prevented by the car's speed. When it reached Montgomery street, it had gathered speed estimated by witnesses at 60 miles an hour.

Crashes Into Another Car
It met the other cable car immediately below the intersection. The second car had been traveling one block ahead of the runaway and its grimpan's efforts to save his car and passengers were without avail.

With a deafening crash, the two cars collided, the second carrier splintering to kindling wood. Its wreckage was carried a block further down California street.

The cars combined had carried about 100 passengers.

The majority of them were thrown bodily to the street and sidewalks. Eye-witnesses saw an entire block strewn with injured, bleeding humanity.

Many appeared to be dead. Others were screaming. Some, with internal injuries or hurt legs, attempted to crawl from the street to the shelter of the sidewalk.

Ambulances Rush to Scene
A fireman gave the ambulance alarm. All ambulances were pressed into service and hurried to the two nearest city hospitals. Others were conveyed to private hospitals.

At least three were believed to be dying at noon.

Escape of the majority from death or lasting injury was deemed miraculous.

The cable cars were filled to capacity. Constructed with both ends open, seats running lengthwise, scores of the passengers were riding outside, supporting themselves against horizontal rods at the open ends.

Isadore Novarr, gripman on the runaway car, told of the events leading up to the accident, while he lay, seriously injured in Central Emergency hospital.

Brakes Fail to Hold
"I received a signal from the conductor to come to a stop at Stockton street," he said. "I began to apply my brakes, but they failed to hold."

"The next thing I knew we were sliding at a terrific pace down California street."

Jail Cell Not Big Enough; Man Released

LOS ANGELES, May 7.—There was not a cell big enough in the new Los Angeles county jail to accommodate George W. Ziller, arrested on charges of grand larceny, consequently he was released today on the minimum bail of $1500.

Ziller stands 6 feet 6 inches tall, and weighs 606 pounds. He has a wife who weighs only 100 pounds.

Ziller was taken into custody at San Fernando. The regular police car was inadequate to transport him to the jail and a special truck was requisitioned.

SHIPPING BOARD MEMBER FLAYS SALE TO DOLLAR

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Failure to include in the accepted bill of the Dollar interests for the Admiral's Oriental Mail line the provision preventing diversion of the ships to other services invalidates the contract, in the opinion of E. C. Plummer, vice chairman of the U. S. shipping board. "This provision was included in the advertisement for the sale of the vessels," he said.

Plummer told the senate commerce committee, which is investigating the sale, that he believed the Dollar contract should be thrown out on this technicality and new bids asked.

Objects to Monopoly.
"I don't believe it is a good policy to place all the freight and passenger ships of the Pacific coast in the hands of one company, as will result if the Dollar line gets the Admiral vessels," he said.

Plummer said he was the minority member of the shipping board opposing the sale of the line to the Dollar interests.

"I was in favor of developing the bid of W. B. Keen, who, I understand, represents shipping interests of the northwest," he continued.

Senators Copeland, Democrat, New York, and Williams, Republican, Missouri, members of the commerce committee, sought to show by questioning Plummer that the sale was completed and could not be overturned.

Contains Provision Binding.
Williams contended that the sale was completed and that the provision to prevent the bidders from diverting the ships to other services was binding on the Dollar line because it had been included in the advertisements.

Plummer later told the committee that he was a minority opinion and that he did not wish to hamper the majority of the board if they wanted to execute the contract.

Chairman T. V. O'Connor has yesterday told the committee that the board "intended to go through with the contract."

Mayor of Long Beach Succumbs

LONG BEACH, May 7.—Funeral arrangements for Ray R. Clark, mayor of Long Beach, who died yesterday following an operation, were being made today.

Clark's death was attributed to heart disease. His tonsils were removed shortly before his death.

The city mourned his passing today. He was one of the most prominent men ever to hold office here and he had many friends.

Norge Safe At Base in Spitzbergen

(By United Press)

OSLO, Norway, May 7.—The dirigible Norge, in which the Amundsen-Ellsworth-Nobile Polar expedition hopes to fly "over the top of the world," arrived at Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, at 6:30 a. m. today, according to word received here.

The Norge had flown from Vadsø, in northeastern Norway, where it had stopped for fuel after starting north from Leningrad on the next to last leg of the polar journey. The dirigible left Vadsø yesterday, at 2 p. m.

The trip from Vadsø to Kings Bay was made without incident. Plowing steadily northward, the dirigible had fair winds over the Arctic ocean. It passed the island at 10:35 p. m., encountering fog there. At 2 a. m., today, it reached South Cape, Spitzbergen.

Capt. Roald Amundsen and Lincoln Ellsworth, his American companion, were awaiting the arrival of the Norge at Kings Bay. Commander Nobile was in charge of the dirigible on the flight.

DAM BILL TAKEN UP BY SECTIONS

WASHINGTON, May 7.—Consideration of the Swing-Johnson Boulder dam bill, section by section, for amendment, was started today by the house irrigation and reclamation committee.

Chairman Smith, Idaho, said several more meetings would be required before the committee will take a final vote.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover was to have appeared in executive session to explain negotiations with Mexico over use of the waters of the Colorado river, but failed to appear.

The committee will meet again Wednesday.

UNCLE JOE CANNON IS 90 YEARS OLD

DANVILLE, Ill., May 7.—Joseph Gurney Cannon, the fighting Irishman from Illinois, whom everyone calls "Uncle Joe," rolled out of bed and dressed this morning, set his old hat at a rakish angle, lighter the proverbial seven-inch stogie and strolled out to join in the city's celebration of his 90th birthday.

"Uncle Joe" has really retired from politics. He leaves no doubt of this. Unlike other "retired politicians," he refuses to comment on any affairs of state.

The contemporary of all the presidents from Lincoln to Harding seems content to bask in the glories won by 90 years of battling in the house of representatives.

SUBCOMMITTEE TO BACK UP ANDREWS

WASHINGTON, May 7.—The senate judiciary subcommittee decided today to approve the measures recommended by Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, dry czar, to strengthen the prohibition laws.

Pending wet measures received little consideration and probably will be dropped formally next Tuesday, when the committee will hold a final meeting.

The prohibition enforcement measure, it was said, would be combined into two bills and it was indicated that the modification proposals would be reported adversely.

McClung Elected Rotarians' Head

SAN DIEGO, May 7.—Fred A. McClung, past president of the Huntington Park Rotary club, was unanimously named district governor of the second district, at the 11th annual convention here this morning. McClung was the only candidate nominated for the place.

Government Brands False Reports of Killings in British General Strike

LONDON, May 7.—A rumor that the general strike would be called off Saturday swept through London's suburbs today. A United Press inquiry at the Trades Union council headquarters in Euston square evoked an amazed, irritable denial.

(By United Press)

LONDON, May 7.—The British government, operating under the drastic Emergency Powers act, today authorized her soldiers and sailors to act as they saw fit to prevent disorders, of which it appears the government is increasingly apprehensive.

The following message was broadcast over the official wireless this afternoon:

"All ranks of the ordered forces of the crown are hereby informed that any action they may find necessary to take in honest endeavor to aid the civil powers will receive, both now and afterward, the full support of His Majesty's government."

No Actual Rioting
The government simultaneously announced officially that no actual rioting had occurred, but that there had been minor disturbances. Reports of killings, it was said, were false and were probably red propaganda. The situation was said never to have been beyond the control of the police.

There had been a single fatality yesterday, near the Elephant and Castle public house, due to a traffic accident, it was announced.

The British cabinet met today shortly after noon to consider the strike situation. The cabinet meeting was in the premier's room in the house of commons.

There are distinct signs today that the government has gained the upper hand in the greatest industrial crisis in British history, and that Premier Baldwin is prepared to maintain his advantage with vigor.

Laborites Seek Peace
Laborites in the house of commons today were eagerly searching for peace, while the government and the miners remained as intransigent as ever.

Indications of weakening in Labor's position were contained in an official Communist statement made to the United Press charging Ramsay MacDonald, J. H. Thomas and other moderate leaders with defeating the purpose of the strikers by talking peace.

MacDonald announced today that the parliamentary Labor leaders were seeking a basis for peace. Leaders at strike headquarters seemed reluctant to discuss the situation.

Members of the government unequivocally denied today that Premier Baldwin and J. H. Thomas had formally conferred regarding industrial peace. However, Baldwin, Thomas W. MacDonald and Sir Arthur Steel-MacLellan, the minister of labor, frequently and informally meet in the lobbies of the house of commons. This constant contact so far has been without result.

"We are using every moment in an attempt to devise means of achieving peace," Ramsay MacDonald, former Labor premier and Labor leader in the house of commons, said today.

Cook Denies Contact
Reports that the Trades Union council was in contact with the government are "absolutely false," A. J. Cook, secretary of the miners' federation, told the United Press.

Bond Election Information

This is one of a series of articles to be published in The Register designed to give voters of Santa Ana full and complete information concerning each of the four proposals that are to appear on the ballot May 26. Anyone who sends questions to The Register having to do directly with any of the matters at issue will have the questions printed under this heading, together with an answer from someone in a position to have authoritative information.

$182,000 BOND ISSUE FOR SEWER EXTENSION IS ASKED

Santa Ana voters will be asked to approve, on May 26, a bond issue for $182,000 to pay Santa Ana's portion of the cost of extending the ocean end of the joint outfall sewer 2800 feet further into the ocean.

The project is one in which the cities of Santa Ana, Orange, Anaheim, Fullerton and La Habra, and the sanitary districts of Placentia and Garden Grove are co-operating. The total cost of the extension, as estimated by the engineering firm of Burns-McDonnell-Smith, of Los Angeles, is $379,000, this total including the cost of doubling the screening plant.

Based on the percentage of ownership by each community involved, Santa Ana's share of the cost, as stated, is $182,000.

The state board of health, a power unto itself, has demanded that the extension be made to correct conditions that have resulted from pollution of ocean waters at the point where the sewage is dumped into the ocean. The state board has not made a request. It has made a demand. The co-operating group has no alternative but to complete the system as recommended.

The order for correction of the situation was issued by the department on June 1, 1925, and the time limit for completion of the order was named as June 1, 1927.

OUTLET IN 40 FEET OF WATER
The order also demands that the outlet must be extended to a point in the ocean where there will be at least 40 feet of water at low tide. While the state board placed that distance at 2900 feet off shore, the engineering firm has determined that the depth may be reached by extending the line 2800 feet.

The present end of the outfall is 600 feet off shore, and just barely passes through the line of breakers. The facts upon which the recommendation of the board was based were that the outlet had not been constructed as far out, nor with the depth of submergence as originally planned when application was made to the board for permission to run the line into the ocean.

The state body pointed out that physical conditions at the point of outlet had been changed by deposits of sand, making the beach line closer to the outlet and filling in around the outlet. It also directed attention to the opening of the Coast boulevard, making the beach section available for resort and bathing purposes, thus requiring stricter limitations as to pollution. Tests made by the department indicated a serious pollution of the beach for virtually two miles on each side of the outlet, as shown by typhoid germs, and for one-half mile a distinctly sour odor of sewage was discernible.

The beach cities of Newport Beach and Huntington Beach have entered complaints against conditions obtaining at the end of the present outfall. "The odor and solids from the sewage have created a situation that is intolerable," they say.

WILL ELIMINATE OBJECTIONABLE FEATURES
It is the opinion of the engineering firm making the investigation for the group of co-operating communities that extension of the outlet into 40 feet of water will eliminate all objectionable features. They point out that at this depth there will be proper dispersion, dilution and oxidation of organic materials and bacterial reductions.

The engineers have recommended ocean disposition of the sewage as against other forms of disposal, as being the cheapest and most satisfactory method.

Under the improved conditions, the outfall will have a capacity of approximately 24,000,000 gallons of sewage daily. The average daily flow now is 3,277,000 gallons, and those versed in the situation assert that the capacity should be sufficient to take care of demands of the communities for at least 25 years.

"Santa Ana must provide the money indicated," said Mayor Frank Purinton. "The problem is up to the taxpayers—do they want to make the improvement under bonds or do they want to pay the cost under the direct tax plan? That's the situation in a nutshell. The state board of health has said that the extension must be made, and we have no alternative, except the alternative of raising the funds by a bond issue or by a direct tax."

DANISH LABOR TO WALK OUT DUE TO AFFECT IN SYMPATHY U. S. EXPORTS

COPENHAGEN, May 7.—Danish labor unions today decided to strike in sympathy with the British workers.

The unions announced that they were preparing to send strike notices to the employers.

This was the first important instance of Britain's labor dispute extending to the continent.

Denmark supplies Britain with a major portion of the dairy produce, butter, eggs and the like which is imported. The effect of the Danish unions' act will be felt immediately at the British breakfast table.

SYMPATHY STRIKE DECLARED IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, May 7.—The executive committee of the National Confederation of Electrical Workers has decreed a nation-wide sympathy strike, as a protest against the intransigent attitude of the British government against organized labor of that nation.

The strike will begin Monday unless Britain agrees to its workers' terms. It is understood that only electricians engaged in work connected with private homes will be involved.

Meanwhile, replying to the request of Amsterdam workers for solidarity with the British strike, the C. R. O. M., Mexico's labor organization, has cabled that neither ships flying the British flag nor ships destined for British ports will be loaded or fueled by Mexican labor.

Scheme to Return Seized Property to German and Swiss Owners Is Alleged

(By United Press)

NEW YORK, May 7.—Harry M. Daugherty, attorney general in the cabinet of President Harding, today was indicted by a federal grand jury here on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government.

The indictment was returned in connection with the investigation of the affairs of the office of the alien property custodian during the time Thomas W. Miller was custodian.

With Daugherty, Miller and John T. King, former Republican national committeeman from Connecticut, also were indicted.

Specific Charge Made
Specifically, the indictment charges Daugherty, Miller and King conspired to return to German and Swiss owners, $7,000,000 of stock and assets of the American Metals company, which had been seized as alien property during the war.

The indictment reads that the three allegedly conspired to "defraud the government of its rights and functions," as distinguished from an indictment charging fraud involving property. The reason lies in the fact that the German property held by the alien property custodian was not considered actually to be government property.

The indictment alleges a "fee of $391,000" was paid in connection with the return of the assets.

Where Did "Fee" Go?
The indictment does not directly say who ultimately received the $391,000 "fee," but it is alleged to have been paid in 1921 at the Waldorf Astoria hotel, in New York, by representatives of the German and Swiss concerns.

Jess Smith, the mysterious figure who was close to Daugherty during the time Daugherty was attorney general, and who later committed suicide, is said to have received the money.

Supersedes Old Indictment
The indictment supersedes one returned a few months ago in a fraud case, in which Miller and several German and Swiss bankers and corporations were charged with conspiracy. In the previous indictment, King was mentioned, but no charge was made against him and the name of Daugherty did not appear. That indictment was returned after weeks of investigation here, during which King was said to have been a star witness.

Later, Special Assistant Attorney General Kenneth Simpson went to Germany, and Richard Merton, a banker of Frankfurt-on-Main, Germany, who was one of those indicted, returned here with him.

The investigation was reopened. Merton was a leading witness and it was reported today that, in return for his testimony, the indictment against him, his brother and the German and Swiss interests involved will be vacated entirely.

Shrouded in Secrecy
The grand jury's investigation has been surrounded by the deepest secrecy. It was known, however, that Daugherty was examined.

Roxie Stinson, the wife of Jess Smith, who figured so largely in the senatorial investigation of the department of justice, was another witness.

It was understood at the federal building here that Daugherty would come to New York and surrender, probably early next week, when arrangements are expected. It was deemed improbable that an officer would be sent to arrest him. It was also understood he had engaged counsel here and was prepared for his defense.

The case of those indicted with Daugherty probably will be handled in a similar manner.

SENATOR WHEELER MAKES LITTLE COMMENT

WASHINGTON, May 7.—"If he is guilty, I hope he is convicted," Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, said today, when informed by the United Press that former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty had been indicted in New York. Wheeler was prosecutor on the committee which investigated Daugherty. The Montana senator said that, since Daugherty had been indicted, he did not think it fair to comment further at this time.

COUNSEL DECLARES MILLER INNOCENT

WILMINGTON, Del., May 7.—Intimating that Thomas W. Miller was innocent, counsel for the government today declared that the indictment against him was "a technicality."

IT IS pertinent to recall how we were rushed into the World Court," says Senator Reed, in one of the Periodic efforts to resurrect the issue.

"Rushed." Indeed! It took forty other nations from a few weeks to six months from the time the court proposal was submitted to them to the completion of their adherence to it. It took America three years even to get it out of Mr. Reed's committee, to submit it for official consideration. Meantime two presidents had campaigned the country for it, and one of them gave the issue its ultimate dramatization by dying a martyr to its cause. Both political parties considered it and put it in their platforms. The House of Representatives considered it and voted eleven to one for it. Practically every articulate voice of organized opinion in America declared for it. The American government has been committed officially, for over a quarter of a century, by every president of both parties, not merely to "a" world court, but to precisely this world court, exactly as now organized, in response to our proposal to do so.

The Senate, however, Mr. Reed pretends, remained in total ignorance during all this period, and only began to learn anything when its public debate began. The debate itself lasted two months; it continued until everybody had said all he had to say, and senators no longer listened to the speeches. All the documents were before all the senators, with two months to digest them. They said they had digested them; they voted three or four to one to shut off further obstruction by Mr. Reed and his associates, and they voted to court nearly five to one, after first attaching reservations which completely met everyone of Mr. Reed's objections.

Senator Reed calls that "rush-in." And now he proposes to agitate for three more years, to unsettle a settled issue.

THE same organ which broadcasts Senator Reed's absurdities on the World Court calls on Speaker Longworth to "join in the disciplining of senators" who voted for it.

Why confine it to senators? Practically all the members of Speaker Longworth's own House, of both parties, are guilty of the same crime. The speaker should start his crusade against his own colleagues and supporters, to defeat the whole Congress and return a body composed unanimously of newcomers, all elected on the program of repudiating the platforms of their own parties.

Or why confine it to Congress? President Coolidge is, after all, the one to be "disciplined." He was the leader. And with him he condemned the memories of Presidents McKinley, Roosevelt, Taft, Wilson and Harding, who took the same position.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE comes out against any more irresponsible government commissions. With the exception of those having semi-judicial functions, like the interstate commerce commission, he thinks they should all be attached to some department and be responsible to somebody who is himself responsible to the president and through him to the people.

It is a sound plan. But it should go one step further. Not only should these commissions and commissions be responsible to somebody, but that somebody should himself be made more effectively responsible than he now is. Congress would be—or, at least, ought to be—more ready to delegate administrative authority to administrative departments if it could itself have the heads of these departments regularly before it, in public session, as they are in other countries, to be questioned on the manner of their exercise of that authority.

DOUBTFUL France will ratify with urgent promptness any debt agreements on which the French and American commissioners can agree. The franc is falling too fast to admit of delay. Then, France having done its part, there will be no excuse for further embargo on private loans by American bankers. The loans will flow, and with them, let us hope, the stabilization of French currency and business.

But then watch for the flood of demagoguery on this side! Our Senate will delay ratification and its members will go home for the election campaigns. Somebody will be on the off side, nearly everywhere, and he will point out that France pays our government from one percent up on money for which the government is itself paying over four percent, and that the French are simultaneously arranging to pay our private bankers six or eight percent. It is an argument signifying nothing, but it will fill the hustings with sound and fury, and inject one more meaningless issue into an election which, more strikingly than any other known in this generation, seems predestined to settle nothing.

IF BUSINESS questions could be settled on business principles, in government, a lot of things would have been done long ago which are still hanging fire. Not only the French debt settlement, which would be easy if it were not for demagoguery on both sides of the water, but Muscle Shoals. As an engineering matter, that was solved long ago. The engineers know what can be done and what it will cost. As a financial matter, it is easily determinable. As a business matter, it would be simple to decide who is the highest and best bidder, provided bidders were all required to submit their proposals on identical or comparable specifications. But as a political matter, the ascertainable facts are completely obscured by an indefinite and variable quantity of bunk thrust constantly the skull and other grave hurts. Four others were seriously injured and their recovery was doubtful. They were Mrs. Ira Lillick, Miss Dorothy Woolfe, Harvey Johnston and Julius Johnston.

50 INJURED WHEN CABLE CARS CRASH

The last was the driver of the meat truck. In the collision with the runaway car he received severe internal injuries, a crushed chest and a possibly fractured skull. Carl Miles, an advertising man, missed death by 30 seconds. He had parked his automobile at the curb on California street and left it just before it was demolished by the hurtling cable car.

"If one of the girls had not stopped me to ask a question, I would have been in my car when it was hit," he said.

Sees Speeding Car

The cable car, in its runaway flight, was witnessed by H. Davis, news stand proprietor on California street.

"I was coming outside to take in a stack of magazines and papers on account of the rain," he said, "when I heard yelling and screaming. I looked up in time to see the car coming down the street at a terrific speed. It must have been going 60 miles an hour. People were standing, frightened, on the sidewalk. They were afraid to jump. Then the car hit the truck. I saw three of the passengers thrown into the street by the impact."

Before ambulances had finished their work of picking up the injured, the state industrial accident commission started an investigation of the crash.

An inspection of the shattered cars was made by John A. McGilvray, president of the accident commission, and E. G. Shibley, safety engineer.

It was expected that officials of the California Street Railway company will be summoned before a special meeting of the public utilities committee of the county supervisors.

From hospitals, an incomplete list of injured was obtained. It included:

Otto Vauth, A. H. Rogers, H. A. Kunz, Miss Dorothy Wolf, Elmer Hutchinson, Rose Paul, Annie O'Brien, Florence Ross, Miss F. James, Bernice Raush, Mrs. Frances E. Fleming, Harvey Johnston, Miss Doris Davies, Van Cleve Knight, Grace Evans, Joseph H. Mayer.

U. S. GRAND JURY INDICTS DAUGHERTY

ler was the victim of a conspiracy, the nature of which would be brought out at his trial. Robert S. Johnstone, counsel for the former alien property custodian, today issued a statement in which he said his client "is entirely innocent of any wrongdoing."

DAUGHERTY NOT GREATLY DISTURBED

COLUMBUS, O., May 7.—Former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty "is not apprehensive over his indictment in New York," he told the United Press upon his arrival here today from his Washington Court House, O., country home.

Daugherty was unaware of his indictment until he was informed at his law offices here.

"The case upon which the indictment is based was decided nearly five years ago by a division in the department of justice regularly authorized to pass upon claims of this character," Daugherty asserted.

into the balance. Not merely the facts as they are, to those who know them, but even more the fictions that may be made to seem to be, to those who do not know them, the facts as they are. So, for four years, a simple business and engineering problem remains unsettled, by virtue of the complexities of a political problem, mostly bluff.

THERE are many evils of democracy—ignorance, carelessness, dishonesty, inefficiency, impulsiveness, irresponsibility and all the other familiar ones that we have been taught for years. But the greatest of these is demagoguery. Because demagoguery is the only one that goes to the roots of democracy. All the rest, the democracy itself can cure, and will when they grow burdensome. But demagoguery, by deliberately polluting the sources of knowledge, deprives even an intelligent democracy of the means of intelligent judgment. It should be considered the highest degree of political treason.

ALLEGED FUGITIVE IN POLICE TOILS

LOS ANGELES, May 7.—Raleigh Faulkner, alleged fugitive rum runner, was held here today for authorities in Seattle. Federal officials arrested Faulkner here after a two-year search of the Pacific coast cities.

Faulkner, according to authorities, had been living here as R. M. Fremont. He was an official of a large investment company, and a popular man-about-town.

He is said to have admitted his identity after long questioning.

Faulkner was arrested in Seattle in January, 1923, as the ringleader of a band of rum runners, who operated along the west coast. He was convicted and sentenced to serve two years on McNeil's island. Pending appeal, he fled his bonds.

Authorities said he would be taken to McNeil's island as soon as commitment papers arrived from Seattle.

2 PROBES OPEN ON PRISON OUTBREAK

CHICAGO, May 7.—With three of the seven convicts who escaped from the Illinois state penitentiary at Joliet Wednesday still at large today, two county grand juries plunged into an investigation of conditions at the penitentiary, which made possible the dash to freedom and the murder of Deputy Warden Peter Klein.

The grand jury of Will county, at Joliet, probed prison rules of conduct in an effort to explain why it was possible for the seven men to gain access to the warden's office at one time.

The Cook county grand jury, in Chicago, meanwhile was asked to investigate charges of political corruption and an alleged "traffic" in prison pardons and paroles.

Hoff Not to Enter Meet at Bay City

PASADENA, May 7.—Charles Hoff, Norwegian pole-vault king, announced definitely here today that he would not make his scheduled appearance in San Francisco tomorrow.

"I will not compete," the viking told the United Press. "I am not in condition to do so. That's final, and that's all I have to say about it." The amateur athletic union has threatened to ban the Scandinavian athlete from all American meets if he fails to appear as scheduled.

DUC DE GUISE SUCCESSOR TO FRENCH THRONE

PARIS, May 7.—"Le Roi est mort. Vive le Roi." This unusual banner surrounded the heavy black lines flaunted this week by L'Action Francaise. Monseigneur le Duc d'Orleans, whom the loyal bands of royalists would have crowned Philippe VIII of France, is dead. Prince Jean d'Orleans de Guise has been proclaimed his rightful successor.

A hundred years ago the death of the chief of the "maison de France" would have plunged the entire country into mourning. Today, strong in her fifty-fifth year of republicanism, France can view the death of the Duc d'Orleans with only that sympathy which is accorded a picturesque figure in her history, and a man who was always recognized as a true friend of his country, despite the edict which kept him in perpetual banishment.

No Precaution Taken

No special precaution has been taken against the Duc de Guise. The decree of banishment against pretenders to the throne remains on the statute books, but the government today is considering whether it might not as well be left a dead letter, rather than be employed to prohibit the return to France of this wealthy landowner, who has never shown the slightest interest in political affairs, but whom fate has made the pretender to the throne and titular head of the royalist elements in the country.

Although the rest of the country views the succession with a feeling of apathy, members of the movement known as "Action Francaise," estimated by their leaders to number a million, have accepted the Duc d'Orleans, as the rightful king of France.

Old Regime

Under the leadership of two of the foremost political writers in France, Charles Maurras and Leon Daudet, these advocates of the old regime have never wavered in their enthusiasm and have never doubted that it was only a matter of time before France would welcome a constitutional monarch in place of the republic.

In the republican chamber of deputies there are 15 royalist deputies, known as "Democrates," but always found in the opposition, usually by one of the queer paradoxes of politics allied with the five communists. They stand firmly to their political belief that a monarchy should replace the republic.

Blow to Royalists

Daudet may write "The Duc d'Orleans," through his death transmit royalty to the Duc de Guise, in an hour of general troubles in which the royalists, organized and disciplined, constitute the sole force, whatever may happen, capable of barring the route to revolution, and of saving the country.

The death of the pretender has been a vital blow to royalist hopes. France is republican and can afford to mourn the death of the chief "of the house of France" with a sympathy untouched by politics, and can afford to consider the return of his successor to France as an event of which the republic need have no fear.

today, as he was leaving the parliament building. "Nothing has been attempted yet," he said.

Cook had intended to leave for Brussels today, but the departure was delayed at the last minute.

The government today admitted the seriousness of the violence menace which threatened Great Britain as an outgrowth of the general strike.

"Feeling is very strained, but there is small outward change in the situation," the official government communique announced today.

"Approximately 25,000 additional volunteer workers signed up for service yesterday, bringing the total in the London area to 75,000."

Disorders During Night

Britain entered upon the fourth day of the general strike after a night of scattered riots and disorders, which many persons feared were but the portent of graver outbreaks to come unless the industrial dispute were speedily ended.

Sporadic rioting was resumed today.

Gangs of London strikers at midday pursued and slugged half a dozen news vendors who were selling provincial papers in Fleet street, the publishing center of the British Empire. Police dispersed the strikers. There were no arrests.

Religious Britain, which is rent by many schisms, was partly consolidated by the industrial strife. The archbishops of Canterbury and York, the former being the head of the Church of England, announced today they were co-operating with non-conformist leaders in an effort to effect a Christian solution of the dispute.

Dispersed Crowds in Cardiff

Queen street, Cardiff, was thronged with menacing crowds today, but the police dispersed them without casualties.

Several miners were arrested today in Glasgow as they wandered through the streets seeking student volunteers who are assisting in breaking the strike.

Railroads announced service somewhat more frequent than that of yesterday. The improvement on the Northeastern railroad today was estimated as 32 per cent.

Mrs. Baldwin, wife of the premier today assumed charge of the volunteer organization to provide transportation to and from work for business women.

BLAMES BLACKMAIL FOR DEFALCATIONS

LOS ANGELES, May 7.—A story of blackmail and extortion was related today by Lawrence V. Babcock, 30, cashier of the First National bank, of Torrance, as explanation for admitted defalcations said to total $18,000. Babcock told officers that, during the last two years, he had been paying "hush money" to a blackmailer to whom he gave a cashier's check for a spurious $3000 one. Under threat of exposure he was compelled to hand over regularly sums of money to this man, the young cashier said.

A warrant for the alleged blackmailer, whose name was withheld by police, was issued, and detectives were looking for him today.

Babcock had been a director of the bank for seven years. He is being held in the county jail here.

FORMER BEACH MOTOR COP IS STATE OFFICER

Gradually rounding into shape what he says will be one of the most efficient traffic squads in the state of California, Walter P. Greer, state inspector, today announced the appointment of Harry M. Aldrich, former Newport Beach motorcycle officer, to the Orange county force.

Aldrich rode for the beach city for almost a year as traffic officer, having resigned there 20 days ago. He is the fourth man to be appointed by Greer since a shakeup in the local squad began last Saturday, with the dismissal of Louis J. Heffner and the acceptance of the resignation of Capt. Henry S. Warner.

Warner wired his resignation to Will H. Marsh, chief of the traffic department of the state, yesterday, Greer said today.

With the appointment of Aldrich, Greer said that there probably would be only one more appointment, to be made either tomorrow or Monday.

Makes Own Appointments

The new appointments will be taken up with the county board of supervisors Tuesday for ratification. The board, earlier in the week, told Greer to make his own appointments and bring the names before the board next Tuesday. No trouble is expected as to making the appointments permanent.

Greer expressed himself today as being highly pleased with the progress being made here in reorganizing the squad, but stated that he would be here for approximately three weeks to watch the progress made and to offer suggestions from time to time.

Capt. Henry Meehan, appointed Wednesday night, in the place of Wednesday night in the place of the squad well in hand and had outlined work for the new men.

Meehan has prepared a set of rules, among which are:

1. No ticket fixing under any circumstances.
2. More courtesy by officers when making arrests.
3. More complete records.
4. A checking system, which will tell where officers are working and the time of day they check in at the office.
5. A more complete report on accidents.

No More Ticket Fixing

"There will be no more ticket fixing and I am going to see that this practice is broken up entirely," Captain Meehan said today. I have started a new system of records here and it will be on my desk. On this record, which will be no more than a police blotter, every arrest will be recorded and I will have the numbers of the tickets before me at all times. After a ticket is written and reported by an officer, it will go to the judge," Captain Meehan said.

The practice of fixing tickets has given the county more or less trouble in the past and Meehan said that he did not propose to allow it to do so in the future.

Meehan announced that lights on automobiles would be checked every Thursday and Friday nights.

Night Detail Planned

Captain Meehan today is arranging for a night road detail, the chief duty of which will be to watch for the overloading of trucks, he said. It has been estimated that thousands of dollars of damage to roads in the county is done each year by heavy trucks speeding over the roads, and an effort will be made in the future to arrest all drivers of overloaded trucks.

Greer also has taken up the matter with the board of supervisors. Many times, when officers have arrested drivers of overloaded trucks, they have been forced to pay for the weighing themselves, it is said. Efforts will be made to have the county pay these costs, which run from 35 cents to 50 cents each, it was said.

The night patrol of roads will begin next Monday, Captain Meehan stated. He has not, as yet, selected men for the first night shift, he said.

WHEAT CROP TO BREAK RECORDS

SAN LUIS OBISPO, May 7.—The wheat crop of San Luis Obispo county this year will exceed in volume and quality the crops of all previous years, Parker Talbot, county farm adviser, declared here today.

There is a total of 2,000,000 bushels in sight on the 1,000,000 acres of planted land, according to Talbot. Paso Robles, the second largest inland grain shipping point in the state, will reach a new high point in volume of grain shipped, he added.

The recent oil fire on the Union Oil company's tank farm near here aided the quality of the wheat, according to ranchers. The black smoke prevented rust.

MAN INTERRUPTS BURGLAR IN HOME

H. A. Gardner, 828 North Ross street, heard a noise in a room adjacent to the one where he was reading last night, so he investigated. When he turned the lights on in the other room, he saw a burglar do a "nose dive" out of an open window.

Nothing was stolen and Gardner thinks that he investigated just in time to prevent his home from being looted.

Entrance to the home was gained through a rear door by unhooking a screen with a small pick. The attempted robbery was reported to the police at 9:45 a. m.

Plaintiff Can't Make Out Court Clerk's English

Court Clerk Earl R. Abbey, of department 1, superior court, is looking for an English tutor.

"I certainly must improve my grammar," Abbey admitted during trial of a lawsuit yesterday, when Raymond Reyes, Mexican witness, failed to grasp Abbey's recital of the oath.

Reyes listened carefully to Abbey who repeated the oath to him twice. Then Reyes turned blankly to Judge C. E. Beaumont.

"I just speak English," he appealed to the court.

Abbey sank limply into his seat and Court Interpreter Charles C. Carrillo sprang forward. Carrillo administered the oath in Spanish, but Reyes still looked blank. He again turned to the court.

"I no speak Spanish," he said, "I speak just English."

Reyes was in court to press his suit for $5118 damages against G. W. Stevenson, of Riverside, whose car was alleged to have struck Reyes while the latter was standing beside the highway at Atwood.

The jury yesterday awarded Reyes $500 damages.

BURGLAR GETS VALUABLES AS COMPANY DINES

Breaking through a rear bedroom window of the home of H. H. Meyer, 1712 North Main street, late last night, while the front part of the house was filled with guests, a thief stole a half dozen purses, owned by the guests and Mrs. Meyer, emptied them and scattered them over the back yard when he left, according to a report filed with the police.

Two diamond pins, worth $150 each, together with currency totaling approximately $35, were stolen by the thief.

The guests robbed and the amount of money lost by each were: Miss Elizabeth Overshiner, $23; Mrs. Vernon Greve, $7; Mrs. Lena Hankamer, $3; Mrs. J. P. Carlson, Anaheim, $4.

Two diamond pins, one set with three small diamonds and the other set with a one-quarter carat diamond, valued together at $300, were stolen from Mrs. Meyer.

Mrs. Meyer was entertaining 22 guests in her home in honor of Miss Overshiner. The party was a farewell for Miss Overshiner, who soon is to leave for Los Angeles. The guests had just finished dining when one of the guests found the bedroom door locked. The door finally was forced open and the robbery discovered.

During the entire evening, three persons were in the kitchen of the Meyer home, but none heard any sound from the adjoining bedroom.

Former Resident Weds in New York

Of interest to many Santa Ana people will be the announcement received in a letter to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Townner, of the marriage of the former's nephew, Harley Hamilton of Los Angeles, which will take place tomorrow in Kenwood, N. Y., to Miss Winifred Herick of that city.

Mr. Hamilton, a noted musician, is a former resident of this community and is well known here especially by old residents. He was the founder of the Los Angeles Symphony orchestra and its director for many years. After a honeymoon trip through the Panama canal on their way to Los Angeles, Mr. Hamilton and his bride will reside in that city.

Modern Poetry

No more interesting or entertaining meeting of Ebell's modern poetry section has been featured on the year's calendar than that of Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. DeWolfe, when a Kipling program was given by two ardent Kipling admirers, Mrs. Jack Cloyes and Mrs. Terry E. Stephenson.

A large attendance was called out by the announcement, and all agreed that the afternoon was unusually profitable. To Mrs. Stephenson fell the task of giving an outline of the life and works of the famous Englishman, and the result was stated succinctly by one prominent member, as "a marvelous talk of appreciation by one brought up on Kipling." She painted a wonderful word picture of the man and the writer, and quoted freely from various poems including "Bobs" and "The Widow of Bye Street."

Mrs. Cloyes turned her attention towards the poetry, reading representative poems, "Tomlinson," "The Explorer," "The Lady," "Fuzzy Wuzzy," and various others, with the sympathetic understanding that a true lover of verse brings to its readings.

Mrs. Robert Northcross, active member of the section, declared that after the study given some of the decadent poets of the period, such a program was like fresh clean wind, blowing away the noisome odors and preparing the section for the next year's program.

To add to the interest, Victrola records of Kipling songs were given, "Danny Deaver," "Mandalay," "Rollin' Down to Rio" and "Mother O' Mine."

The section voted to present "Captain Applejack," famous French doll fashioned by Mrs. Cloyes, to the Santa Ana Community Players.

Bathing except when prescribed by a physician was unlawful in Boston at one time.

Movie Chatterbox

With tragic vividness and powerful emotional appeal, H. B. Warner has brought to the screen the role which he developed in the stage play "Silence." No vestige of dramatic force has been lost in the De Mille production, under direction of Rupert Julian.

The story, necessarily elaborated, has been remarkably direct and fluent. And Warner's characterization of "Gentleman Jim," the crook who was moved by so many conflicting means and magnificent impulses to the verge of the gallows, will delight the critical as well as the casual movie patron.

As a portrait, in its measure of acting and for genuine absorption in the role, Warner's performance stands second to none in the current films. It tugs irresistibly at the heart.

Stoicism. Done somewhat in the mood of "Alias Jimmy Valentine," which Warner also played, "Silence" is the story of a man whose misdeeds prevented marriage to the girl he loved, and who, to save his daughter by this woman from disgrace when she herself is about to be married, elects to maintain a fatal silence.

The daughter, played by Vera Reynolds (who also capably plays the earlier role of the mother) shoots an underworld character who threatens blackmail and exposure of her mother. "Gentleman Jim" assumes the guilt and is saved from his sacrifice after he has mounted the gibbet.

Tenderness. In the contrasting scenes of terror at "Jim's" impending execution and the tender passages of the man with his daughter, Warner displays the wide range of his abilities.

Raymond Hutton contributes an outstanding role as a petty crook and a striking scene when he is baffled by blackmail.

Virginia Pearson gives a surprise performance as a brazen amazon, who rules her political ward from a saloon—excellent, indeed, and certain to create much comment.

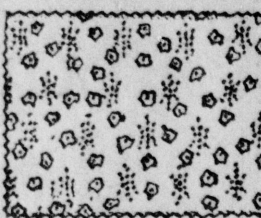

"Silence," which rises far above the ordinary crook melodrama, is also notable for its unflinching suspense and swift development, and, by no means least, its excellent camera work, comparable in spots with the best German technique.

Hostess Entertains Friendly Group At Matinee

HOOSING an afternoon tea party as a means of expressing her hospitality, Mrs. Cotton Mather of 609 South Sycamore street, entertained a congenial group of friends on a recent afternoon in Los Angeles.

Motoring into that city, Mrs. Mather took her guests to the Majestic where Marjorie Rambau is appearing in "They Knew What They Wanted." After the matinee, the hostess led the way to Paul's where refreshments were enjoyed as the return trip to Santa Ana.

The Santa Anans were joined in Los Angeles by Mrs. Ralph Doyle, formerly of this city and now of Montrose, and Mrs. Edward Bowen of Pasadena. Santa Anans whom Mrs. Mather included in her delightful plans, were Mrs. C. M. McCain, Mrs. Ashby Turner, Mrs. Elmer B. Crawford, Mrs. George Briggs, Mrs. Howard Timmons, Mrs. J. K. Hermon, Mrs. L. A. Chenoweth, Mrs. Harold Wahlberg, Mrs. Roy Browning, Mrs. Southworth, Mrs. Charles Norton, Mrs. A. N. Zerman and Mrs. Leonard G. Swales.

Annual Recital Of Dance Pupils

On Friday evening, May 14, the sixth annual dance recital by pupils of Mrs. Maude Putnam and Mrs. Eleanor Putnam will be given in the Ebell auditorium, with approximately 40 pupils to take part.

The first part of the program will take the form of a charming fairy story, "The Princess and the Demon" and will be told in the graceful dances. The second part of the evening is listed as "Divertissements" and will present ballet, Grecian, fantastic, acrobatic, buck and stage dancing with a military finale.

The school was established six years ago and has proven highly popular. Its two talented teachers present the Ernest Belcher technique. The annual recitals are among the most highly anticipated events of the spring season.

The pupils who will take part in the forthcoming event include Muriel Bray, Helen Goeth, Frieda Lawrence, Josephine Ballentine, Lillian Hurwitz, Mary West, Georgia Gale Pennock, Vera Getty, Gertrude Aves, Peggy Bronson, Florence Urban, Eloise Blodgett, Marjorie Kenyon, Levine Parks, Ann Scheffer, Marion Moseley, Helen Karr, Virginia Pritchard, Carrie Kimball, Lorraine Sender, Thompson, Helen Hayden, Lieve Theda Tucker, June and Janice Peele, Lola June Aiken, Lorraine Lusk, Bluma Hurwitz, Velma Jean Jones, Ruth Kettler, Nancy Laurie, Barbara Davis Helen Meyer, Elizabeth Ross, Laura Nisson, Sara Louise Safely, June Watson, Priscilla Sherman, Betty Blodgett, Eleanor Luz, Mildred Ruoff.

Country Club Affairs For Month o' May

Opening the month's calendar of Santa Ana Country club gayeties, was the luncheon and afternoon at cards given at that favorite haunt of Santa Anans on Wednesday afternoon.

Luncheon was served in the solarium to those who went down early and the other card enthusiasts who joined in a lively afternoon of bridge. The management had provided unusually lovely gifts—in fact many declared they were the most attractive prizes given during the year. Mrs. Hugh Shields was the fortunate holder of high score and received a crystal lemonade set. Equally lovely were the candlesticks and bowl of a console set awarded Mrs. J. S. Smart for second high score and the gay little bridge score pads given as consolation to Mrs. Ray Crenshaw.

On Friday night of next week will come the second of the social events for club members, a dancing party with dancing to start at 8:30 o'clock. The evening bridge party will be the following week, Friday, May 21 and it is hoped that reservations may be made early in order to facilitate table arrangements.

The formal dinner dance which is an anticipated monthly feature, will be held Friday night, May 28 and reservations must be made at an early date. Dancing will begin at 8 o'clock.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Baptist

Over 90 busy women paused in their work at the First Baptist church Wednesday, to enjoy the elaborate noon-day dinner planned by Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Ramsey and their aides. Fish was the principal item of the bill of fare and the toothsome dish was made possible by the Ramseys who not only caught the fish but cooked them to a luscious turn.

In the afternoon, following a business session, Miss Mary Ranney, a former missionary to Burma, was introduced and gave a most enlightening talk on that far-off mission field. Miss Ranney gave her life to the work, having been born in Burma when her parents were missionaries there. Only a physical breakdown sent her back to the States where she is now trying to regain her health in Pasadena. Her Grandfather Bennett was also in the work and took the first printing press to Burma for missionary work. She also has a sister still in the field, the head of a school in Burma.

Devotionals were on the theme of Bible heroes of fame, and the topic, "Following Pioneers" was discussed by Mrs. J. H. Merriam of Pasadena. Mrs. Merriam, who will be remembered as Miss Grace Carson, once of Santa Ana, was well qualified to talk on the subject by her 43 years of mission work, also in Burma.

St. Peter Lutheran

With Mrs. Grace Nordstrom and Mrs. Otto Schroeder as hostesses, Aid society members of St. Peter Lutheran church held a most interesting session Wednesday in the church social rooms.

The program was one in which each member took part, and was devoted to a study of the life of Henry Melchior Muhlenberg after his arrival in America from Germany in 1742. His marriage, and founding of a home and the remarkable church work of his existence was all discussed and also the ministerial life of his two sons, one of whom, Peter, became an officer in the Revolutionary War, leaving the pulpit to enter the army as a colonel.

The old Trappe church at New Providence was also discussed and added interest was given by the description given by Mrs. Annette Clark who visited it on a trip east.

Announcement was made of the meeting of the federated societies of the Lutheran churches of Southern California in the local church on May 19. After the program and announcements, and during the social hour, a surprise was proffered Mrs. Ranney in the form of a luscious birthday cake which she cut to be served with other appetizing refreshments planned by Mrs. Nordstrom and Mrs. Schroeder.

Friendly Dinner Party Is Final Courtesy For Travelers

Mr. and Mrs. Dawes will make an extended Canadian visit, but Miss Dawes will sail on June 16 for Europe in company with Mrs. Burns and Mrs. Daniel Casey of Orange. The trio will sail on the S. Melita of the White Star line, and are ardently hoping the labor troubles in England will be settled by that time. Mrs. Burns and Mrs. Casey will leave in about two weeks, and plan brief visits in Chicago, Detroit and Montreal ere their sailing date.

The hospitality extended by Mr. and Mrs. Burns on Wednesday night, preceding the departure of their friends, took the form of a dinner, which was maintained as a delightfully intimate little family affair. However, many friends, knowing of the plan, sent an array of farewell gifts in, and after-dinner intervals was marked by a shower of fascinating packages which contained thoughtful little last-minute traveling conveniences.

Business Women to Convene at Anaheim

Helen Harden, president of the Anaheim Business and Professional Women's club, who will act as hostess at the seventh annual southern district convention of the State Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, to be held in Anaheim, June 12 and 13, announces that the Saturday luncheon will be a club presidents' affair.

Forty-three southern clubs will send their presidents to represent them on this occasion. The chairman has not as yet been named, but several prominent club presidents have been suggested. Mrs. C. V. Calhoun, president of the Uplands club, Mrs. Florence Galtine of Santa Monica, Fleda Smith of San Diego and Ethel Carroll of Oxnard have been mentioned as possible material.

The Saturday luncheon will be in charge of Rose Carlson and Alvina Swanson of Anaheim. Three minute talks by presidents will alternate with special songs being written for the occasion by the local club.

Surprise Is Planned For Young Matron

Mrs. Cassie Ferguson of 1334 East Fourth street, planned a pleasant party Wednesday afternoon for her friend, Mrs. Frank Berry of Placentia, who was quite surprised when guests began arriving.

The home was adorned with quantities of lovely Maman Cochet roses and a pleasant afternoon of chat and needlework was enjoyed. The chief event, however, was the presenting of an assortment of lovely articles for a lavette to Mrs. Berry. This pleasant interval was followed by refreshments when Mrs. Ferguson served ice cream and cake.

Guests conspiring to honor Mrs. Berry were Mesdames Lylla B. Scamman, Ida Morrison, Charles C. Graham, Lloyd L. Tucker, Clinton W. Howland and baby Phyllis, Charles M. Smith, Anna E. Patmor, Katherine Adams, A. E. Berry, Bert Sutton and little son, Walter Patmor, Ernest Young, Henry Connor, Docia Jasper, F. W. Bunickman, Clayton B. Squires, the Misses Bertha Belt, Emma Belt, Mae Patmor and Vera Patmor.

Altar Society Gives Card Party

Sections numbers two and five of the Altar society of St. Joseph's church, of which Mrs. L. M. Banks and Mrs. J. P. Murphy are chairmen, gave a card party Wednesday afternoon in Knights of Columbus hall, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion with spring flowers.

At the close of the games, Miss Kate Anselmino proved to be the winner of the first prize at whist, Mrs. Catlier of the second and Mrs. Riley of the consolation award. Mrs. U. J. Engelman, Miss Anna Young and Mrs. Sandon were winners in the game of five hundred. Mrs. Lieberman drew the prize awarded to the lucky one among those not taking part in the games. Delicious refreshments were served.

Ebell Society

With Monday to office for the annual election of officers for Ebell society, interest in that afternoon's business meeting at the clubhouse, is life among the members. The ticket was selected some time ago, and an interesting group of names will be presented the club for its approval. In addition there will be reports of the delegates to the state convention just concluded in Riverside after which the entertainment program will be presented under direction of Mrs. H. M. Sammis.

Mrs. Sammis, as every clubwoman knows, is chairman of music in both county and district federations, and furthermore, all clubwomen agree that no wiser choice could have been made. She not only has a thorough understanding of music, but is blessed with a fine voice which has had the best of training. Her songs have added immeasurably to countless Ebell programs and her nature is such that she is equally generous with other clubs throughout the county and district so that she is well and favorably known generally. The fact that she is planning the program promises an interval of enjoyment to the members.

The officers to be placed in control of the society by the votes of its members, are Mrs. S. W. Stanley, returned to the presidency; Mrs. L. C. Fairbanks, first vice-president; Mrs. Clarence A. Gustlin, second vice president; Mrs. W. W. Anderson, recording secretary; Miss Louise Tubbs, corresponding secretary; Mrs. N. A. Beals, treasurer; Mrs. Archie V. Herr, curator; Miss Lida Crookshank, Mrs. Oliver Halsell, Mrs. E. B. Sprague, Mrs. L. A. Chenoweth, Mrs. W. H. Harrison and Mrs. J. H. Metzgar, directors.

In England no one asks for a "spool of thread" but for a "reel of cotton"

S. A. Woman Golfers Meet Opponents on Fairway Course

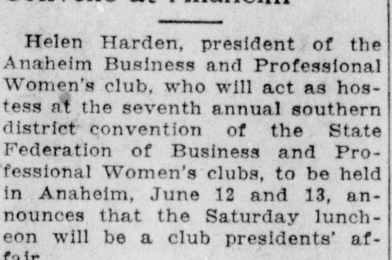

IGHTEEN prominent woman golfers of Santa Ana Country club motored to the Fairway Country club yesterday where they met a group of the woman players in a return tournament and had a demonstration of the delightful hospitality of the Fairway club and its members.

Morning hours were spent on the links and after a most enjoyable luncheon at noon, the players returned to continue the spirited contest. Of the local players, Mrs. Homer Robinson made the best score, although other excellent scores were made generally.

Santa Ana club's representatives were Mrs. Homer Robinson, Mrs. Hugh Shields, Mrs. John L. Wheeler, Mrs. J. W. Ainsworth, Mrs. Frank Drumm, Mrs. C. V. Doty, Mrs. Ray Crenshaw, Mrs. Ray Townsend, Mrs. Charles Holcombe, Mrs. E. B. Collier, Mrs. N. H. Hilton, Mrs. A. G. Flag, Mrs. Thomas E. Talbert, Mrs. J. S. Smart, Mrs. H. C. Kenyon and Mrs. H. F. Townner.

Luncheon Guests of Mrs. Curry Meet At St. Ann's

RCHID and pink appointments prevailed yesterday at a gay little group of tables reserved at St. Ann's Inn by Mrs. B. V. Curry who added a charming luncheon and bridge to the week's gayeties. Each table was centered uniquely with a small pond in harmony with the softly tinted place cards and other decorative effects.

Following luncheon the guests assembled in the foyer where tables were arranged for bridge. The hostess offered most attractive prizes which were taken by Mrs. Lyle Anderson and Mrs. Alvin Berry.

Mrs. Curry's guests included Mesdames Frank O'Neil, Lyle Anderson, William Paxton, Robert Hill of San Diego, A. H. Warwick, Howard Rapp, Harold Yost, T. R. Trawick, Louise Kimball, Major Anderson and Alvin Berry.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Men's Community Bible class have invited the Women's Bible class of the First Christian church to the Mother's Day services Sunday morning at 9:15 o'clock in the West Coast-Walker theater. As a consequence the women will not meet in the community hall but instead will assemble at the theater. Anyone having cards to be asked to communicate with the chairman of the committee, Mrs. W. W. Adamson, 1493-J.

The first story hour to be held in the children's department of the city library will be tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock when Mrs. Helen Nelson will tell three stories, one of knighthood, one hearing on the history of music and the third will be a humorous animal story.

The Second Household Economics section of Ebell will meet at the clubhouse Wednesday, May 12, for a one o'clock luncheon when Mrs. E. T. Nelson, Mrs. W. L. Salisbury, Mrs. C. W. Younge and Mrs. Roy Russell will be hostesses. Those unable to come are to call Mrs. Salisbury at 496-W. The subject for the afternoon will be "Better Films" and roll call is to be answered with the name of a good moving picture.

It is believed that no fewer than 100,000 men were employed for twenty years in the construction of the Great Pyramid of Egypt.

RELIEF REPORT AWAITED WITH MUCH INTEREST

Awaited with considerable interest by members of the Crippled Children's Relief Association of Orange County are the recommendations of a special committee, appointed some time ago by the county supervisors to report upon the advisability of granting financial aid to the association.

The committee, appointed by the supervisors, is made up of W. S. Gregg, aid commissioner; Dr. V. G. Presson, county health officer, and Dr. H. E. Zaiser, superintendent of the county hospital.

Inquiries made today about the courthouse disclosed that the report of the committee is ready to be submitted to the supervisors for action. While no definite information could be secured as to the recommendations, it was intimated that they favor an arrangement whereby the county health department would take over some of the work now being done by the association, including the procurement of braces, artificial limbs and kindred supplies.

Father Paddles His Son and Dies

LOS ANGELES, May 7.—Antonio Muchicelo, 45, spanked his son and it caused the father's death. Muchicelo was injured in an automobile accident several weeks ago. He had nearly recovered when he tried to discipline his son and the wounds he suffered in the accident were reopened. Poisoning set in and caused his death.

KNOWLEDGE IN NUTSHELL OFFERED BY INVENTION

Rear Admiral Bradley N. Fiske and his reading machine. His Encyclopaedia Britannica of 32 volumes, shown in foreground, weighs only 32 ounces.

Newspapers Size of Dollar Bill Are Possibility Of Future

NEW YORK, May 7.—Shoe box libraries—vest pocket encyclopaedias—newspapers the size of a dollar bill.

Rear Adm. Bradley A. Fiske, retired American naval officer, sees them coming.

This through the combination of microscopic type and magnifying glass that is the "Fiske publishing and reading system."

Twenty-nine thirty-fths of the bulk of the world's future printed matter is headed for the discard through revolutionizing of the publishing industry, he declares.

Half-Ounce Book
After six years of experimenting, Fiske, noted for his inventions while in the navy, says his system has been brought to perfection at last. First specimens of its product have just been revealed.

Reproduction of Mark Twain's "Innocents Abroad" is typical. The 92,000 words of this book appear in a half-ounce pamphlet of 14 pages.

The "Fiske reading machine" completes the system. Similar to a lorgnette in appearance, it magnifies the miniature type and illustrations. To read with it, but one eye is used. The device includes a shield for the other eye, an attachment to hold the reading matter, and a focusing adjustment.

The public will be slow to adopt the system, forecasts the inventor, but he thinks the day will come when its use for supplying the world with its literature will be universal.

Books For Few Cents
Complete sets of the works of famous authors may be available for a few pennies then.

Encyclopaedias will appear in volumes weighing only ten ounces. Modern printing equipment worth countless millions will go to the junk yard, and business of the respectable manufacturers and salesmen will collapse.

Both type and illustrations are reproduced from engravings in the Fiske publications. In weight of paper, these are but one-thirtieth as bulky as when ordinary print is used. Decrease in the production cost of literature, while not yet calculated, bids fair to be immense the inventor says.

A minimum in eye strain is attained by the "reading machine." This because the eyes are protected from glare; the reading matter is held always at an exact distance from the reader; the muscles of the eye remain at rest instead of being required to converge the glance downward and back and forth across a wide page.

Because of the focusing adjustment, eye glasses and spectacles in most cases may be dispensed with.

For Libraries First
Prompt objections to his system are anticipated by Fiske. This because it is nothing short of revolutionary.

"It will be adopted first, I think, for reference works—dictionaries, encyclopaedias, law books, medical treatises and the like," he explains. "Vast saving to libraries in storage space suggests itself."

"Gradually, I believe, all objections will be overcome by the factors of cheapness, convenience of size, and ease of reading of the literature I propose."

"Some day, it seems probable, even newspapers will adopt it." Vindication comes from the Fiske system, finally, for the gent who inscribed on the head of a pin the entire Lord's Prayer.

Four patents covering the publishing and reading system have been obtained by Admiral Fiske. Plans for utilization of it have not been completed, he said.

PROPHECIES AIR-BOAT
LONDON, May 7.—Prof. A. M. Low, a British scientist, has predicted that in 1976 the present type of ships will be replaced by giant hydroplanes that will skim along the surface of the water at tremendous speed.

'Tailoring Club' Operator Nabbed

LOS ANGELES, May 7.—Hugo Kahn, 45, wealthy "tailoring club" operator of Denver and Hollywood, was arrested by federal deputies here today on a fugitive warrant charging him with fraudulent use of the mails.

Kahn, according to federal authorities, was indicted recently in Denver in connection with the alleged operation of lottery schemes there in retailing men's suits.

The accused tailor was taken into custody at this palatial Hollywood home, where he has been residing with his wife and three children.

16 Boys In Reform School Stricken

LANCASTER, O., May 7.—Sixteen young prisoners at the boys' industrial school here suddenly became ill today, shortly after partaking of herbs obtained while they were on forest detail.

The boys range in age from 12 to 14. All were removed to the institution hospital.

They had been in a woodland near here, gathering kindling. Apparently each partook of a strange herb known to grow in the woods and which is particularly prolific at this time of year.

16 Per Cent Wine 'Not Intoxicating'

SAN DIEGO, May 7.—Wine isn't intoxicating until it intoxicates someone, according to a jury of 12 women, who acquitted a G. Gann of liquor charges. Four barrels of wine, testing 16 per cent alcohol, were taken from Gann's house, but the police couldn't show that it had made anyone tipsy. Gann won't get his wine back again however. It has been destroyed.

Flames Rage In Hawaiian Forests

HONOLULU, May 7.—Warning of a serious forest fire menace was broadcast today throughout the islands by Acting Governor Brown. A prolonged drought has enhanced the danger, the proclamation stated. A large area of Hilo already has been burned over, in addition to the timber consumed by fires started by the lava flow from Mauna Loa. Forest fires were reported raging on the island of Kauai, overrunning thousands of acres.

Girl Drowns In Swimming Pool

SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—Apparently the victim of heart disease or illness caused by entering the water too soon after eating, Miss Marion Cook, 21-year-old stenographer, drowned in the presence of 50 swimmers in the Y.W.C.A. girls' pool last night.

JAP CONSUL RECALLED
HONOLULU, May 7.—Arata Aoki, Japanese consul general here, has been recalled. It was announced today. Shukel Kamashima, secretary of the Japanese embassy in Washington, will succeed to the post.

THEFT SUSPECT HELD
SAN FRANCISCO, May 7.—With the arrest in King City, Calif., of Ed Krug, alias Ed King, police today believed they had located the "brains" of an automobile theft gang, which is accused of stealing $100,000 worth of automobiles in California in the last two months.

become fatigued upon the least exertion. If you get excited easily. If you suffer from constipation or stomach trouble. If your hands and feet are cold. If your sleep is disturbed by troubled dreams or wakefulness. If you have spells of irritability, gloominess and pessimism. If you suffer from heart palpitation, dizziness, headaches, cold sweats, or ringing in the ears, you may be sure that your nerve force is gradually being exhausted. Yet these are only a few of the signs of weak, unhealthy nerves that are steadily robbing thousands of people of their health and vitality. They are nature's warning that some part of the human machine is not receiving sufficient nerve energy to allow it to function normally.

Nerve exhaustion does not come on suddenly, but it is gradual development that deceives hundreds of apparently healthy men and women. At first your symptoms are few, yet your nerves are under pressure and slowly undermining your entire system. It is at this early stage that you should give your body proper attention for the longer you allow the abnormal condition to remain the more firmly it is its hold upon your once healthy body.

Nerve exhaustion is the direct result of pressure upon the large nerve cables that carry force or energy from the brain to all parts of the body. This pressure is usually produced at a point where the cable emits from the spinal column and is bent about by a dislocation of one or more of the bony segments of the spine. For that reason we must look to the spinal column in order to find the real cause of your trouble, for if the vertebrae are not in proper alignment you cannot expect to enjoy good health. If you are not well and wish to learn the real cause of your sickness or trouble as only an X-Ray will show it just

SCHEDULE FOR SCHOOL HOURS IS SUGGESTED

Recommendations that the school trustees throughout the county adopt a uniform schedule for opening and closing of school, holidays and vacations are contained in a letter sent out today by R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent, to the various high school and grammar school districts.

The communication adds that at a conference of school officials, held a few days ago, the following proposed schedule was adopted as the most practicable:

September 13, opening of schools; November 11, schools closed (Armistice day); November 25, 26, Thanksgiving holidays; December 20 to 31, Christmas vacation; April 11 to 15, Spring vacation; May 30, Memorial day; June 10, closing of schools.

It also is suggested by Superintendent Mitchell that all districts adopt the 10 payment plan for paying teachers' salaries. The first warrant would be payable the first day of October, the next on the first day of November, etc. The tenth warrant should be paid before the first day of July as balance due on yearly contract.

Editor Espouses Necking; Ousted From University

FOREST GROVE, Ore., May 7.—An article entitled "In Defense of Necking," published in the Pacific University Index, campus weekly, caused the expulsion from college of Virgil Green Lilly, editor of the paper, and Webster Wertz, staff reporter; suspension of the assistant editor, dismissal of the paper's staff and suppression of the edition containing the offending article.

The article was declared by the college officials to be destructive of morals, indecent and obscene. "Necking," it was explained, is the collegiate term for old-fashioned "spoofing."

Wertz is a theological student preparing for the ministry.

FARM BUREAU DROPS WATER WASTE CASES

The water conservation committee of the Orange County Farm bureau will have nothing further to do with possible arbitration of the cases pending against Orange county gun clubs, accused of wasting water, according to a report of the committee submitted to the directors of the farm bureau yesterday afternoon. The directors voted to accept the report.

According to A. M. Stanley, secretary-manager of the farm bureau, District Attorney A. P. Nelson and H. E. Carner, the complaining witness in the cases, referred the matter to the farm bureau and the committee attempted to reach some basis of settlement so that the cases would not have to be dragged through the courts.

Before a compromise plan could be accepted, a number of recalcitrant farmers from the Anaheim section demanded that prosecution be continued and that the cases be tried at once, Stanley said. In view of this interruption, the farm bureau water conservation committee voted to have nothing further to do with the matter.

J. R. Hunt, manager of the Orange County fair, in discussing farm center community exhibits, suggested that the $50 heretofore given the centers for transportation and building expenses be discontinued and the amount added to the prize money. The directors voted to discuss the proposal with the members of their respective centers and also to request the members to begin to secure specimens for exhibit at the fair.

The ways and means committee recommended that the organization's dues be increased to $10 for 1926 in order to adequately finance the operations of the farm bureau. This matter also was referred to the farm centers for discussion before definite action will be taken.

The directors voted to hold a Farm Bureau day later in the month for the purpose of securing new members and urging old members to renew their membership. The meeting was held in the offices of the bureau, in the Hall of Records.

Rich Mine Strike Made by Williams

LOS ANGELES, May 7.—"Hamp" Williams, famous western miner and discoverer of the Kelly-Rand gold mine, at Randsburg, has made a fresh strike in the Amalie mining district, near Caliente, according to advices here today.

A picked assay of the strike was said to have run $120,000 to the ton.

Williams' discovery, the richest in his career, was made three weeks ago, and kept secret until today. The strike was made in the Barbacossa mine, 16 miles up the Tehachapi canyon from Caliente.

Street Car Fare Increase Sought

SACRAMENTO, May 7.—Residents of Sacramento were faced today with possibility of a higher street car fare, following the claim of the Pacific Gas and Electric company, made to the city officials, that revenue returns were inadequate to permit needed extensions. The company contends that a 7-cent fare should replace the 5-cent rate now in effect. Preparations are being made to submit the request to the state railroad commission.

State Treasury Clearings Grow

SACRAMENTO, May 7.—Clearings of the state treasury for the last fiscal year reached a new high mark, Charles G. Johnson, state treasurer, said today. The total was $126,495,127.75, or an increase of $26,378,879.80 over the preceding 12 months. Johnson estimated that the total in warrants paid during 1925 was nearly double what it was five years ago.

Court Notes

$750 Judgment Asked
 Judgment for $750, alleged to be due on a note, is asked today in a superior court action filed by W. J. Rice and W. H. Armstrong against Mr. and Mrs. Wickersheim. Attorney A. E. Koepsel represents the plaintiffs.

To Settle Estate
 Miss Mabel McGee, La Habra, realty agent, has filed a petition in superior court to probate the will of the late Emma L. Rust, of Brea, who left an estate valued at $3854. Except for several cash bequests aggregating $250 and including a legacy of $100 to Miss McGee, she will leave the estate to Elizabeth Woodworth, a sister of the deceased, living at Jamestown, Pa.

ORCHESTRA MAY LOSE AWARD IN MUSIC CONTEST

Music may be harmonious, but for the last three years a discordant note has disrupted the annual Orange county high school music contest and, as a result of a protest this year, Santa Ana may lose first place in the orchestra section, awarded last Friday in Fullerton, it was learned today.

At a meeting of the county high school principals, held yesterday afternoon in the Santa Ana high school, the dispute was referred to A. D. Hoenschel, principal of the Garden Grove high school, chairman of the music committee in charge of the county contest.

To Determine Rating
 Hoenschel was instructed to get in touch with the second judge to determine whether the rating of the orchestra was correct.

The discrepancy was due to a wrong addition in the report of the second judge, it was claimed. If an error in simple addition was made, the award will go to Orange high school.

According to the corrected point rating, the Orange orchestra received first place from two judges, although Santa Ana, in total points, had 265 to 259 for Orange.

Awarded Two Firsts

Santa Ana won both the orchestra and band contests, according to the first announcement. In the band contest, Santa Ana received less total points than Fullerton but two judges conceded Santa Ana to be first and on that basis the award was made.

Last year, in the music contest, Santa Ana lost the first place in the girls' glee club, due to having 25 girls instead of the regular 24, and the year previous, a dispute over the award in the girls' glee club contest caused Huntington Beach to take first place from Orange.

MANY TEACHERS RESIGN FROM CITY SCHOOLS

A large number of resignations, submitted by teachers who intend either to leave the teaching profession or seek employment in other districts will be acted upon next Tuesday night at the regular school board meeting, it was learned today at the board of education offices.

In addition to filling vacancies caused by resignations, six new teachers will be employed for the junior college and the senior high school, inquiries disclosed.

With hundreds of applications received from all parts of the country, many from eastern states, there will be no difficulty in filling vacancies, Superintendent Cranston intimated. Listed among resignations are two from the senior high school, four from the junior high schools and 10 from the elementary grades, it was stated. In addition to these are those expected from teachers who have applied for positions in other districts and who are now awaiting notification.

Inquiries also brought out that work on the 1925-27 school year budget is nearing completion and will be submitted to the board at an early date. Coupled with this information, it was hinted that as a result of additional requirements there might be a slight increase in the tax rate for elementary schools.

VALET OF LOTI IS MELANCHOLY MAN

PARIS, May 7.—When one rings the bell at the door of the little house at Rochefort where Pierre Loti was born in 1850, he is greeted by probably the most melancholy man in the world. Auguste, Pierre Loti's valet for 20 years, acts as if still under the spell of his master's demise and as if the funeral had taken place only yesterday.

With tears welling, he refuses the visitor's request to "take a peep at the master's workroom."

"They are sacred things and must not be disturbed," he says, without any apologies but withal respectfully. Sadly but firmly, he declines to entertain any insistent request and even the attraction of a well rounded tip fails to shake his determination.

Loti, a taciturn, moody man, never cared to receive guests unless they found favor in his eyes and had been specially invited on account of their good listening qualities.

"My master did not want to be disturbed when he was alive, and I am sure he would resent now the intrusion of strangers into his home," the valet says with finality.

Capital Letter

WASHINGTON, May 7.—One hears the question raised, down in the senate lobby, if President Coolidge's blood hasn't been turning a little too cool recently for his own good.

It isn't raised by Democrats or insurgent Republicans, either. It's raised by as regular Republicans as ever sat in congress.

The old guard never has been overly fond of the present White House tenant. They made the best of him because they had to, but they weren't enthusiastic. This attitude toward him has appeared to be developing, of late, into something strongly resembling active dislike.

The talk began with the case of Senator McKinley of Illinois. McKinley was very loyal to the administration. When it came time for the senate to vote on American entrance into the World court, the indications were that he ought to cast a negative ballot, if he had a proper regard for his own political good health.

The president, however, wanted an affirmative result, so McKinley obediently voted affirmatively.

Shortly afterward the moment arrived for him to seek a renomination for the senate, from the Illinois Republican electorate. Backed by the administration, he probably would have won it, but the administration kept strictly out of the fight and McKinley lost, mainly because he had voted for the World court to please the president, who wouldn't help him when it came his turn.

Then came the Brookhart-Steck contest.

If Senator Brookhart, an insurgent Republican won, then the field was clear for Senator Cummins, a faithful administration man, to get a Republican renomination in Iowa for the coming autumn election. He said he wanted the contest decided on its merits, but he undoubtedly hoped Brookhart would be allowed to keep his seat.

But the administration seems to have preferred Steck's conservative Democracy to Brookhart's insurgency. True, the president said he didn't care, either way. Nevertheless, the senatorial quarter which recognizes as preeminently the Coolidge members of the upper house—Butler and Gillett, of Massachusetts, and Dale and Green, of Vermont, was for Steck.

So Steck got the seat, and now Brookhart is campaigning in Iowa to get Cummins' place. They say he has a pretty good chance to succeed, too, or to split the Republicans so that another Democrat, besides Steck, will get in.

It's inconceivable that Butler, Gillett, Dale and Green—Coolidge Republicans of the deepest dye—all voted to seat a Democrat except at the presidential behest. That President Coolidge should feel strongly on the subject of Brookhart is understandable. Brookhart opposed him in the last election, but he didn't oppose Butler, Gillett, Dale and Green.

And take due note of the fact that Senator Curtis cast a Brookhart vote. Curtis is a Republican regularly itself—so much so that

Blocks Traffic Changing Tires; Driver Arrested

A. G. Bailey, Los Angeles architect, working on the new Yost theater building, on North Broadway, discovered he had a flat tire, when he drove away from the building, at 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, so he proceeded to change tires in the middle of the street. Today, Bailey is due to appear in city police court to answer a charge of blocking traffic. He was arrested by Officer Dean, who wondered why the traffic moved so slowly along Broadway.

RAPID GROWTH IN POPULATION CAUSES ALARM

BERKELEY, May 7.—The earth is filling up with human cargo and "the saturation point will be reached within the present century."

This contention, advanced by Prof. C. O. Sauer, head of the geography department of the University of California, is supported by numerous facts that lend it the ring of truth.

Thomas Malthus, English economist, who warned that population is increasing faster than food supply, was right, avers Professor Sauer.

"It looks as if he were right," he said. "Without great disasters, the earth is filling up to the limit of the food supply. A measure of pessimism would be more than justified from the present trend."

Increase at Rapid Rate

"The human race," he continued, "is increasing and spreading out over the earth's surface at an alarming rate. In the last 125 years, the increase in the earth's population was 250 per cent. There is just so much land and that is getting poorer."

"The most fertile spots on the earth's surface—India with 350,000,000 and China with 400,000,000—are terribly overcrowded. Italy and Germany have made up their war losses in births already and Europe is pulling in its belt."

"In 15 years, the United States will be consuming its own food surplus, and will begin to import food staples, such as wheat, meat and other major items of diet."

Will Flock to Cities

"In that 15 years, the United States will at the present rate of increase have added 25,000,000 to its population. Low prices for farm products and high wages in cities will insure that most of this increased population will be living in cities and will be consumers, not producers. This might be taken as good news for the farmers, were it not in the realm of possibilities that food tariffs would be repealed and American farmers put in competition with the world. But the slack in agriculture is about taken up now, and soon the demand for food will replace the present apparent local surplus."

"At the present living standard, it can be said that the United States is supporting all it can support. The same thing is true of the Orient and Mediterranean, both horribly overcrowded."

"The boosters who look upon increased population as a boon may soon revise their attitudes."

Widow Wants to Be Sure Whose Ashes Are Who

BERLIN, May 7.—Whether crematory officials are able to distinguish the ashes of a dead man from those of a woman likely will be a question for authorities to settle. Six months ago, Frau Meinicke placed an urn containing her husband's ashes in a niche at the municipal crematory, paying 380 marks for the privilege. She says she was horrified recently when she found that the urn had disappeared. Later the officials reported that they had found the urn, but Frau Meinicke refuses to believe them and claims that the urn contains the ashes of an unidentified woman.

Smart Set Crazy Over Monkey Pets

PARIS, May 7.—A craze for monkeys as pets on the Riviera has become so far-reaching that the private zoo at Cross de Cagnes, near Nice, has averaged one sale a day for a fortnight.

Monkeys are seen everywhere. No popular cabaret can be considered well patronized unless two or three monkeys are numbered among the guests. A dozen monkeys may be found taking the sun on the famous promenade des Anglais at Nice any morning.irate auto bus conductors are daily forced to listen to the argument that monkeys are "so very much like us," that they are entitled to ride in the coaches with their owners.

Three months ago, a nice tame monkey, guaranteed to be able to smoke and perform a few parlor tricks, could be bought for $50. Now, a monkey at $200 is cheap.

he's its leader on the Senate floor. But he's a party man first and a Coolidge-ite secondly. He had a heart for Senator Cummins.

Is it any wonder, then, that regular Republican sentiment in the Senate is somewhat wrought up? Here are two senators already—one definitely gone into the discard and the other in danger—whom all hands considered entitled, by every rule of the game, to an administration support that they didn't get. Whose turn will it be next?

Officials Favor Greater Liquor Pouring Parties

SEATTLE, May 7.—County and city officials are on record here as being in favor of bigger and better "booze parties."

This pronouncement came as the aftermath of a "party" staged on the shores of Lake Union, when, with much ado, a large quantity of confiscated liquor was destroyed while cameras clicked and strong men wept.

Officials "in on the kill" stated that such affairs should be surrounded with considerable ceremony, "inasmuch as a certain amount of pomp would tend to enlist the interest and co-operation of the public in the fight to enforce prohibition."

Future affairs of this sort will be given the widest publicity, it was stated, and the public, if it is so inclined, may have the opportunity of mingling its tears with the beverages that will never caress a tonsil.

BUSINESS CONDUCT, SERVICE AND FELLOWSHIP STRESSED IN ADDRESS BEFORE LIONS

New ideas of business conduct, service to the community and fellowship among men were carried away yesterday afternoon by the Lions and their guests, who attended the weekly luncheon meeting of the Santa Ana Lions club at St. Ann's Inn.

They had been listening to one of the most remarkable addresses delivered in a long time before that organization. H. J. Banta, president and general manager of the H. J. Banta corporation, wholesale dealers in automobile accessories, Los Angeles, and a well known Rotarian, was the principal speaker and his subject was "Business Principles and Ethics."

Contributing in no small measure to the success of the program, in charge of Horace Fine, veteran newspaperman and automobile editor of the Santa Ana Register, was a musical entertainment, furnished by a trio of the Orange County Choral union, headed by A. J. Garraway, tenor, and including Sally Lee Scates, soprano, and Reginald Taylor, baritone. Mrs. C. A. McCullah was accompanist.

ERUPTIONS IN HAWAII SEEN BY S. A. WOMAN

The violent eruptions of Mauna Loa, on the island of Hawaii, the highest of active volcanoes on the Pacific, which began early in April, sending flames far into the sky and lava over thousands of acres of farm lands, are looked on as a great curiosity rather than something to fear by the natives of the Hawaiian Islands according to Mrs. W. H. Haddon, 1914 French street, who has just returned here from the Hawaiian Islands.

The days of belief in the Volcano Goddess who showed her anger toward the natives by causing an up-ward heaval in the mountains of Mauna Loa and Kilauea, are past and the native today enjoys the sights of the volcano as much as do the tourists who constantly are visit-ing the shores. Christianity has taken fear from the hearts of the natives and an eruption of Mauna Loa or Kilauea today is just an-other attraction for the tourists, as far as the native is concerned.

Far From Capital.
Because of the distance from Honolulu to a place where the erup-tion of Mauna Loa can be seen, there are hundreds of tourists in Honolulu who have not seen the eruption, Mrs. Haddon said. Tour-ists in the island capital, which is on the island of Oahu, must board a ship, which takes several hours to reach the island of Hawaii. From the dock at Hawaii it then takes several hours of hard driving to reach a point of vantage.

Mauna Loa is located many miles from the famous Kilauea, the vol-cano known to so many thousand tourists and, even though the erup-tion of Mauna Loa is a greater spec-tacle than was the eruption of Kil-auea, in 1919, it will be viewed by

Noblemen of Radioland Also Will Be Featured on Program

Who are radio's noblemen. Why "Duke" Atteberry and "Count" Pagano, of course.

The "Duke" and the "Count" will be among the high class entertain-ers present Monday night at the meeting of the junior division of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, which is to be held in the gold room of Ketrar's cafe, be-ginning at 8:30.

The "Count" and the "Duke" are the "Wiseest Crackers" of the "Wise Crackers club" of radio station KNX, owned and operated by the Los An-geles Evening Express, in the Paul G. Hoffman Studebaker building, Hollywood.

They are known as far as the Hertzian waves of KNX reach as an inimitable duo in the matter of laughs and original quips. Their chief purpose in life, it is said, is to bring joy to others by means of humorous comment upon promi-nent persons, things or what have you?

The "royalty of radioland" will be on the same program with Eddie Viera and Doris Dysart, crack dance team of Santa Ana; George Harris and Barbara Luddy, comedi-ans of the Fox Film company, Hollywood; the California Play-boys, a leading Orange county jazz orchestra, and others who, accord-ing to those in charge of the pro-gram, will combine to provide one of the snappiest evenings of enter-tainment ever witnessed by the ju-nior division members.

Miss Lillian Van Gadales, pretty secretary of the Balboa Cham-ber of Commerce, and Burton L. Smith, state editor of the Los Angeles Times, will be special guests and will make short speeches. D. Eymann Huff, manager of the Hewes ranch, El Modena, will make an im-portant announcement concern-ing the next meeting. It was said by Mason Viohl, president of the ju-nior division.

ALAMITOS BAY SPAN IS BEING PLANNED

Negotiations have been started looking to the construction of a concrete or steel bridge over the en-trance to Alamitos bay, near Seal Beach. Long Beach to pay one-third of the cost, Seal Beach and Orange county to supply the remainder of the funds, according to a report re-ceived today from Seal Beach.

Construction of a highway bridge to connect the two counties on Ocean boulevard has been discussed by representatives of the two cities at intervals for several years past. Conferences with Long Beach mun-icipal authorities have been held by Phil A. Stanton, Seal Beach cap-italist, who was the originator of the movement.

Although no plans have been drawn for the structure, the inten-tion is to provide a 60 foot road-way over the bridge with a mov-able span to permit the passage, through the channel, of dredgers, which might be needed in Alamitos bay.

NEED OF PARKS IN SANTA ANA TOLD P.-T.A. BY CHAMBER HEAD

Various Issues in Coming Bond Election Explained
By George A. Raymer

WOMEN URGED TO CAST 'YES' VOTES

Mrs. Robertson Is Named President of Organization for Next Year

"In a few years Santa Ana will be the laughing stock among the cities in Southern California because of its lack of parks and up-to-date equipment, if it continues at its present rate," said George Raymer, secretary of the Greater Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, to members of the P.-T. A. yesterday, at the monthly meeting, in the Y. hut.

"In Fullerton," said Raymer, "there are two parks, totaling 33 acres, which cost $93,500, or $10.42 per capita, the total amount to be paid in 20 years. Anaheim has a 20-acre park, which cost $225,000, or $18.75 per capita. Santa Ana has a park, which cost its citizens .75 per capita when the population was much less than at the present time. "Such a condition should be remedied at the earliest possible moment," Raymer declared.

Three Important Matters.
"The time to settle the question of parks will arrive with the date for the bond election, May 26. On that day, three important matters will be before the public. The first one is the sewer bond issue, for which every one should vote 'yes,' thus spreading the cost of its ex-tension over 30 years. If one votes 'no,' the cost will have to come from next year's taxes.

"The second matter is important, as it deals with parks. The issue is for $250,000. It is estimated that $90,000 of this sum will be required to purchase park sites and that the balance will be needed to properly equip them. Selection of the park sites will be entirely in the hands of the city council. "The third matter is the voting of a tax levy of 5 cents for publicity and six cents for music. Under to-day's valuations, each levy will raise a fund of approximately $10,000. By voting the levies, Santa Ana will be in better position than ever to promote, through publicity, the interests of the entire city. The music fund will be used to some extent in supporting the Santa Ana Municipal band, and the publicity the city will receive through this organization will more than justify the costs."

Speaks of Youth.
Raymer spoke briefly of his youth in New York. He told of the woman in charge of a playground in that city, who had taught him to speak English, a language of which he knew nothing until he was eight years old, despite the fact that he was born in the United States. He praised the parks in New York, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles, saying that the good that had been accomplished through them is invaluable in the making of good citizens of the children of the United States.

Raymer told of the various ways that a child is benefited through living in a community where there are many parks.

At the business meeting of the P.-T. A., the following officers were elected for the coming year: Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, president; Mrs. E. J. Owens, first vice president; Mrs. J. H. Stewart, second vice president; Miss Edith Alton, recording secretary; Mrs. E. H.

KOLB AND DILL PLAY AT YOST NEXT THURSDAY

The California "Sweet Sixteen Girls," sixteen of the cleverest dancers the stage has ever known, many seasons, who proved a veritable riot during Kolb and Dill's eastern engagements, are one of the big attractions of "Pair O' Fools," which carries a dozen musical numbers from the tuneful pen of Byron Gay.

Kolb and Dill arrive here direct from Chicago, where they played a successful engagement at the Studebaker theater.

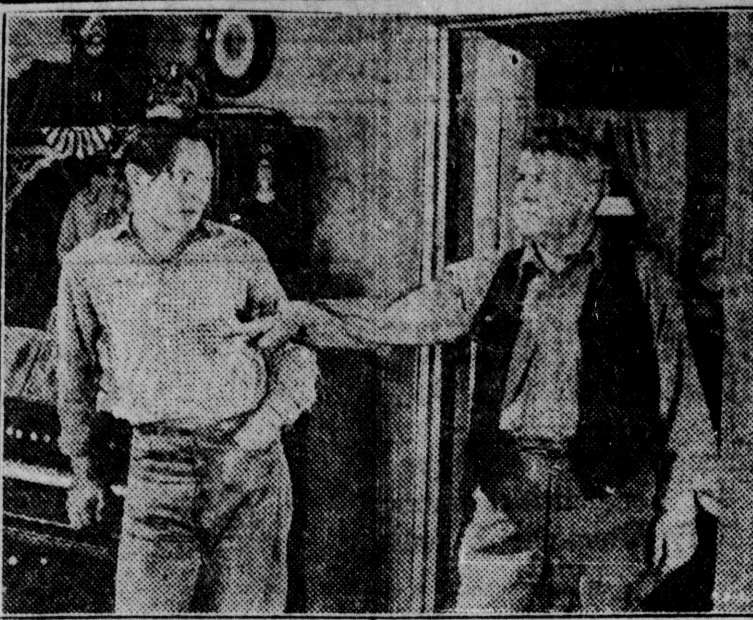

Despite the definite statement made some months ago that Clarence Kolb and Max Dill have dissolved the partnership that had existed for thirty years, the comedians are again in the field, and Thursday May 13 will be seen at the Yost theater in a new musical play.

Which is good news to their thousands of friends and admirers who want another laugh at and with these users of mixed English. The piece they will offer is "A Pair of Fools." Its book is by Anita Loos and John Emerson, whose fame rests largely on their authorship of the scenarios of Constance Talmadge's pictures during the first years of Connie's screen life.

"A JOHNSON, TAILOR," GREENVILLE, Tenn., May 7.—Over the door of a little one story house here is a sign bearing the inscription, "A Johnson, Tailor." The building was the workshop of the seventeenth president of the United States.

Stage and Screen

WEST COAST-WALKER

Charles Ray, the beloved country boy of the screen, has no counterpart in motion pictures. He stands alone in a position so unassailable that he is perhaps the only truly great star of the cinema who defies imitators. Today as in the days of his first rural comedies from the studios of the late Thomas H. Ince, Ray typifies the lovable, blundering yokel. There can be but one Charles Ray. He is more than a great star. He is an institution. "Some Pun'kins," which comes to the West Coast-Walker theater today is an original screen story and will bring back to the screen this popular star in his familiar characterization of the country's "straw-hat-and-boots" boy.

Jerome Storm handled the physical direction of the picture and much is expected of him because of directorial efforts on the earliest Ray successes.

"The public is crying for laughter and I have tried to give it to them in 'Some Pun'kins,' Charles Ray said recently. "And for the present I am going to try to provide stories in which mirth and humor play a dominant part."

Ray has surrounded himself with a highly capable cast in his latest screen achievement.

Featured in the five-act vaudeville bill is a revue, "Breathless of 1926," featuring Maurice LaMar. Others are: Barry and Osborne in "Variety DeLuxe"; Kern and Geat in "Capitol and Labor"; Thelma, "the singing violinist," and Joe Chapelle, "the king of the banjo," with some new ditties, as master of ceremonies.

WEST END THEATER

Replete with thrilling situations and brimming with comedy from start to finish, "Red Dice," Rod LaRocque's new star picture at the West End theater bristles with drama and thrills. Marguerite De La Motte plays opposite the star.

Rod LaRocque, by virtue of his triumphs in "The Coming of Amos" and "Braveheart," has rapidly forged to the fore as one of the screen's most popular stars. In his support is Marguerite De La Motte, who scored decisively in "The People vs. Nancy Preston" and "Fifth Avenue." The balance of the cast embraces such prominent players as Gustave Von Seyffertitz, George Cooper, Ray Hallor, Charles Clary, Clarence Burton and Walter Long.

TEMPLE THEATER

Tonight is your last chance to see one of the funniest have of the Connell Players have of the started Saturday matinee "Cinderella O'Reilly," known the world over as one of the sweetest stories ever told and one that will hold your interest and prove to be better even than "Peg O' My Heart."

Miss Fay Life, the clever little lady who will be remembered as Miss Peg, will take the leading role of Cinderella and can be relied on to run away with the show. Manager Connell has made arrangements to put on the "Country Store" Monday that has been held on Tuesday owing to the fact that the engagement had been contracted in advance. The main prize for the evening will be a five-tube radio set. Forty other gifts will be presented. Connell expects that the house will be sold out so he advises you to come early for the super country store.

CAN SMELL SUGAR?

MUNICH, Germany, May 7.—To determine whether fish could smell, carp was blindfolded at the University of Munich. It was found the fish refused to eat bits of meat boiled to extract every trace of odor, but when a similar piece of meat was sweetened the carp snapped it up greedily.

Warner Baxter, now playing in "A Son of His Father," picture at the Yost theater.

YOST THEATER

Miss Catherine Redfield and her associates in "Scenes Beautiful" conducts her vaudeville patrons on a trip through a musical fairland at the Yost theater. Opening in a whirl of melody the company renders a selection from Tanhauser; the aria "Mme. Butterfly," followed by that tuneful and alluring quartette from "Rigoletto." When the strains of Rigoletto have died away it is followed by such universal favorites as "The Flower Song" by Miss Redfield; the trio from "Faust" and closing in a blaze of glory with gems from popular musical comedies by the entire company.

Charles F. Semon, "the narrow feller," has a style all his own. This long, lean and lanky comedian with the Arliss face and Hooligan hat saunters on the stage smoking a huge calabash pipe. From that time until the finish of his turn he proves himself to be an eccentric comedian of no mean ability.

Two speedy steppers, Rose Blanche and Webster Elliott, add impetus to the bill with their fast routine of whirlwind dances. Lovers of negro humor will get a kick out of "Alabama Ham Drama," as presented by Draper and Hendrie. Draper portrays the southern negro. Miss Hendrie impersonates a chic, "high yaller gal," the combination making their comedy irresistible. An incidentally, Miss Hendrie plays a mean court displaying a rare sweetness of tone. A song or two is also rendered.

The Mann brothers in their act of rope jumping and balancing offer an unusual diversified number of tricks that entertains any audience. With a rope suspended like a wire, the boys walk, balance, jump and perform several thrilling tricks with little effort.

"A son of His Father," a picture featuring Warner Baxter and Bessie Love, is showing on the Yost screen.

S. A. MAN HURT IN FALL FROM LADDER

Manuel Valencia, 20, of 112 French street, Santa Ana, is in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, seriously injured as the result of a fall from a ladder yesterday at the new $500,000 Huntington Beach high school building.

Valencia is the fourth victim of accidents during the construction of the building. Three other men were injured some time ago when an elevator shaft collapsed. According to hospital attaches, Valencia's condition is serious. He is reported to have a badly fractured skull. He was given treatment at the emergency hospital in Huntington Beach before being taken to Santa Ana.

Adopt Slogan to Put End to War

GLASGOW, May 7.—"Law, not war," has been adopted as the slogan of the Peacekeepers' Pilgrimage of the women of Great Britain, who assemble in Hyde Park, London, June 19. Some of the pilgrims from Scotland plan to walk most of the way.

There will be five main routes for Pilgrims to travel, all centering on London. Local committees in Scotland and England have been formed to mobilize the pilgrims and escort the marchers. The meeting, expected to be attended by 110,000 women, will demand that law be substituted for war; that the British government agree to submit all international disputes to courts of arbitration or conciliation, and shall further take the lead in the proposed disarmament conference.

FELLOWSHIP IS STRESSED BY LIONS SPEAKER

gether different basis than it was some 30 years ago. At that time, he declared, commercial transactions were reduced to a barter, or trade. The rule of "caveat emptor" (let the buyer beware), the ancient law of business of the Romans, still was in force. It was a matter of matching wits in an effort to secure an advantage and put it over on the other fellow. No one considered it sharp practice to misrepresent merchandise in order to attract buyers.

Old Principle Repudiated

Today, he went on, not only has organized business repudiated the old Roman principle of law, but misrepresentation of merchandise in advertising is considered highly objectionable and makes a criminal offense in many states. The speaker stressed the fact that the department store, at first denounced as an octopus, which would gobble up the small merchants, is the very institution that blazed the way for new ideals, standards and principles in business conduct.

"Satisfaction or money back," reads the business slogan of Marshall Field and company, of Chicago, he asserted. Such were the results recorded from this new way of dealing with customers that the business methods of the Chicago house were copied by other concerns in this country and abroad.

"The science of business is nothing more than to conduct in an open, straightforward manner, in which fair dealing, efficient service and mutual benefit are the outstanding factors," he explained.

Policy Is Unsound

"The policy of charging the public all that the traffic will bear, in excess of a fair profit, is unsound in principle and, while in a few instances, under unusual circumstances, it may bring temporary prosperity, it cannot last, for sooner or later the buyers will realize that they have been overcharged."

"The old idea was to get rid of a competitor. Today, the modern business man realizes that there can be no real progress without fair competition and therefore cheerfully subscribes to the slogan, 'live and let live.' In this connection, he emphasized that the seeking of a business advantage through efforts directed to injure a competitor is looked upon today with disfavor and made the subject of merited censure.

Good Will, Asset

"Good will, based on reputation for fair dealing and quality of merchandise, has more than ever before become an indispensable asset in permanent business."

The address now and then was interspersed with reminiscences, anecdotes and pictures of notables in the business world, who, from humble beginnings, had built up large business organizations on the principles advocated by the speaker.

In closing, Banta paid tribute to the service clubs of the country, which, in his opinion, have been instrumental in injecting a new spirit of service and fellowship in business transactions.

fewer persons, in the opinion of Mrs. Haddon.

Is Wonderful Sight

"One of the most wonderful sights to be seen, in connection with the eruption, is the striking of the red hot lava on the water of the ocean. Steam arises for hundreds of feet and it's a sight rarely seen. Of course, it's a gamble for the tourist who attempts to see the sight, for he must be at a point of vantage at the exact minute that the lava strikes," said Mrs. Haddon. "When the hot lava strikes the water, it kills fish for miles around," she said.

Mrs. Haddon was in the Hawaiian islands for five weeks. She was accompanied to Honolulu by her sister-in-law, Mrs. M. D. Borgmeyer, who still is in the islands and who will remain there for several weeks longer.

Mrs. Haddon returned to Santa Ana greatly impressed with the beauty of both the island of Hawaii and the island of Oahu.

C. G. DEMING DIES IN LOS ANGELES

Word has been received here of the sudden passing away, in the residence of his nephew, in Los Angeles, of C. G. Deming. The deceased was returning to New York after spending the winter in Santa Ana with his wife's brother, G. W. Lounsbury, 206 Highland Ave., this having been his third visit to Santa Ana. He became ill in Los Angeles and died within 40 hours after his arrival there.

His son and wife, who are missionaries in Korea, had been on a furlough here but had left on their return journey to the foreign field before the father left Santa Ana. The remains have been forwarded to New York for interment.

Mr. Deming, who was 82 years old, made many friends while in Santa Ana.

CHURCH PLANS BIG CAMPAIGN OF EVANGELISM

LONG BEACH, May 7.—Episcopal churches throughout the country will take part in a systematic campaign of evangelism, beginning at Epiphany in 1927, and continuing for six weeks.

Announcement of the nation-wide revival was made at the eighth annual synod of the Pacific Coast province of Episcopalians, in annual convocation here today, by Bishop Thomas C. Darst, Wilmington, N. C.

Bishop Darst is making a tour of the country to lay the groundwork for the campaign.

"The church must come back," Bishop Darst declared. "Laymen, clergy, and bishops must work together that the Protestant Episcopal church may survive."

"The time has come to take a determined stand for Christianity." Proposal to do away with religious wedding ceremonies in the Episcopal church was debated behind closed doors. An announcement may be made at the final session Saturday or Sunday on the marriage question, one of the most controversial in the synod. The results of the discussions, on the other hand, may not be revealed until some time after the convocation. The churchmen have agreed to join in prayer for a "speedy settlement" of the British general strike.

The architectural committee reported that only 40 of 3000 plans submitted for new churches during the last year were satisfactory. Many new churches, it was reported, are "architectural freaks."

2185 SLATED FOR BERKELEY DEGREES

BERKELEY, May 7.—Degrees will be granted to 2185 University of California students on commencement day, May 12, it is announced. IN DAYS OF OUR FOREFATHERS

Women Prepared Their Own Medicines

The wise pioneer women learned to gather, in woods and fields, the remedies the Indians used. From the tasters of these colonial houses, hung great bunches of dried roots and herbs. From these, in times of sickness, the busy mother brewed simple and powerful remedies.

From roots and herbs, Lydia E. Pinkham, a descendant of these sturdy pioneers, made her Vegetable Compound. The beneficial effects of this dependable medicine are vouched for by hundreds of women who tell of returning health and energy.

Mrs. Wm. Kraft of 2838 Vinewood Ave., Detroit, Mich., saw a Pinkham advertisement in the "News" one day and made up her mind that she would give the Compound a trial. At that time she was very weak. "After the first bottle," she writes, "I began to feel better and like a new woman after taking six bottles. I recommend it to others and always keep a bottle in the house."

If Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped other women, why shouldn't it help you?

BORAH INSISTS HE CAN'T AFFORD TO BUY MOTOR CAR

Idaho Senator Travels on Street Car and Often Rides Horseback

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer
WASHINGTON, May 7.—Senator William E. Borah of Idaho is a strap hanger.

He says he can't afford an automobile. What this has to do with his not having one I don't know. The automotive industry would be ruined if many people allowed themselves to be influenced by what they can or can't afford, in the matter of owning machines.

The same street car brought the senator and me down town the other day, dangling from adjoining straps.

Borah has an interesting face to study. It has a bulldogish look. Not that it's unamiable. A bulldog, unaroused, is an amiable animal but his visage is blunt, stubby, rough-hewn, with a slight tendency of the upper lip to twitch back occasionally, disclosing an ominous eye-tooth.

Isn't Fierce in Repose
Even so with Borah. His face, in repose, isn't fierce, but it suggests a face which, if it grabbed you by the leg, would take a crowbar to pry loose.

Borah's get-up resembles a prosperous farmer's—an old-time farmer, when there were some prosperous ones left.

As he swung from his strap, he held his black slouch hat in his free hand. He has a round bald spot on the crown of his head, about three inches in diameter. He could cover it up if he'd brush some of the rest of his hair over it, but he doesn't seem to care.

In physical appearance, Borah is of the reinforced concrete type. He doesn't look as if he'd sway and he doesn't look as if he'd break.

I take due note of the fact that Borah can afford a horse, and the kind he rides costs about as much as a reasonably good automobile. Besides, a horse's upkeep, these times, when he's a curiosity and has to be provided for as such, probably is more than an auto's would be.

Can't Afford Both
However, the senator doubtless means he can't afford both a horse and an automobile, and, of the two, he prefers a horse.

It's a reactionary attitude. How a man who prides himself on his progressive-ism can assume it, I think most Americans will find it hard to understand. I don't pretend to explain it. I only quote what Borah says.

Another thing that stumps me is the way these wild westerners of today ride.

I suppose it's natural for a legislator from New England or Central park or Virginia or Maryland to get into a pair of whipcord breeches and pigskin puttees, arm himself with a riding crop, climb aboard a racing saddle with 18-inch stirrups, and go bobbing off at a hard trot, like a man going to an English fox hunt.

But, in my time out west, this would have been considered ridiculous and silly in the first place, and, in the second place, under such adverse circumstances nobody could have stuck on his horse.

Seeing an Idaho senator doing it gives me a shock.

Jack Renault Tops N. Y. Card Tonight

NEW YORK, May 7.—The summer boxing season gets under way at Madison Square Garden tonight, with two feature bouts to attract the customers.

Two Jacks—Renault and De Mave—occupy the headline spot, with Renault, the Canadian champion, a slight favorite over the Hoboken boxer.

Joe Dundee of Baltimore, welter-weight contender, and George Levine of Brooklyn, will tangle in the semi-final.

SENATOR BORAH

WATER BOARD GIVEN CHECK FOR $450,000

Directors of the Laguna Beach County Water district cashed in on $450,000 worth of the $600,000 water bonds voted at the January election, when they delivered 450 bonds of $1000 each to the bond house of Freeman, Smith and Camp, Los Angeles, yesterday. A certified check for $450,000 was received by James B. Neel, for the directors. The remaining $150,000 worth of bonds will be taken up by the bond house on demand of the water board, if the request is made before January 15, 1927. The entire amount probably will be needed to complete the new system.

Joseph R. Jahraus, president of the water board; Frank B. Champion and Mr. Neel, who are directors, carried the bonds to Los Angeles from Santa Ana. They had been deposited in the First National bank, Santa Ana, for safe keeping. The directors were accompanied by State Traffic Officer F. E. Howell, acting under orders from Sheriff Sam Jernigan.

The receipt of the money assures the speedy completion of the water system. Because of a legal technicality, the money was not available until one year had elapsed from the time the district was legally formed. That was May 5, 1925, the day after the people of Laguna Beach had voted to approve the formation of the district, 359 to 9. Under the law, it is possible for the attorney general of the state to start a suit against the legality of the district, but after one year, it cannot be attacked.

The district already has use for a big slice of the money made available. Two wells have been drilled, all of the cast iron pipe for the force mains and distribution system have been ordered and will be delivered next week. Contractors are at work laying a portion of the permanent distribution system. Reservoir and pumping plant sites and rights of way have been purchased. The water board has purchased land for its pipe yards and office.

Contracts will be let Monday for building two reservoirs of a total of 4,000,000 gallons capacity and the main line contract will be advertised soon.

Warrant Issued On Check Charge For Bat Nelson

HELENA, Mont., May 7.—A warrant was out here today for the arrest of Battling Nelson, former lightweight champion of the world, charging him with issuing worthless checks.

Nelson recently lectured here in connection with the showing of a fight picture. He issued several checks on a Chicago bank and, according to the warrant which was sworn out by local business men, they all came back.

Piping 'Em Off

Yesterday's hero—Rookie Wiltee, Red Sox pitcher, who let the Indians down with five hits in a 1 to 0 shut-out.

The Cardinals got but three hits but those were enough to defeat the Robins 3 to 1. "Dazzy" Vance has yet to win a game.

By bunching four hits with an error in the sixth inning, the Braves beat the Pirates, 3 to 1, and evened the series.

Eighteen hits enabled the Reds to score in all but one inning and gave them a 14 to 4 rout with the Phillies.

STATE COMMISSION PLANS FIGHT PROBE

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 7.—Investigation of alleged crooked fights at the Vernon arena, will be taken up at the next meeting of the state boxing commission, according to a statement given out here today by Louis Almgren, senior member of the board.

"We have heard numerous complaints," said Almgren, "regarding 'fixed' fights at Vernon instigated by gamblers. St. Masters, the Vernon boxing manager, will be called before the board at our next meeting this month and asked for explanations. If they are unsatisfactory, we will take up his license, and close the doors of the Vernon arena."

"We will not stand for gamblers killing the game in California and a thorough investigation of Vernon's boxing activities will be made."

Plan Card Party At Westminster

WESTMINSTER, May 7.—A public card party will be held in the L. O. O. F. hall here tonight at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Five Hundred club. It was announced this morning.

Borotra Injured; Quits Tournament

CHAMPION TO PITCH HOT SPRINGS CAMP

HENDERSONVILLE, N. C., May 7.—When Jack Dempsey winds up his month of training here week after next, he will move on, bag and baggage, to Hot Springs, Ark.

The heavyweight champion made this announcement today. It came as a surprise. For he had made previous intimations that he would go direct from here to his home in Los Angeles, accompanied by Mrs. Dempsey, who is to join him in the mountains next Wednesday.

"I think a little holding out will do me good," Dempsey explained. "I have never been to the Springs and I am anxious to see them. I'll probably stay there for two weeks."

LOCAL TENNIS TEAM ENTERS TOURNEY

Santa Ana high school will send a complete tennis team to compete in the Coast Preparatory league tournament at Glendale tomorrow where the contestants to be entered in the Southern California playoffs will be selected.

All the eight schools of the conference with the exception of Whittier will participate. Something like 20 of the best racket wielders in the schools will battle for the honors.

Gorham Smith and Jack Warner will play in the first and second singles respectively. The first doubles team entered is composed of Everett Trostel and Raymond Dixon. The second doubles team is Stewart McPherson and Hubert Gohres.

JAP SWIMMER ACCEPTS.

HONOLULU, T. H., May 7.—The Japanese swimmer, Kikakashi, called the "Weismuller of Japan," together with four other Nipponese swimming stars, today cabled acceptance of an invitation to come to Hawaii and compete in a meet here June 11 as part of the Kamehameha Day celebration. The quintette will leave Japan May 27 on the Taiyo Maru.

Meet me at the Rendezvous, Balboa, Saturday and Sunday, May 8th and 9th, where the Brick English orchestra plays.

SMITH SEEKS ELECTION TO COUNTY BOARD

ORANGE, May 7.—Announcement made recently by Willard Smith, Villa Park rancher and member of the county board of supervisors, that he would be a candidate for re-election at the coming county elections, was the result of endorsement of more than 200 residents of the fourth district in the form of a petition presented to him, it was stated today. A strong campaign organization will be formed to work for Smith's election, according to friends.

SHELL RETURNS TALBERT LEASES

TALBERT, May 7.—The Shell Oil company is relinquishing its leases in the Talbert district. Instead of the usual rent money, ranchers whose land was under lease to the company are finding their deeds. The leases were made last September and called for a rental of $1 per month per acre. The Shell drilled a wildcat well on the L. M. Von Schiltz ranch. This well was abandoned several weeks ago. When the company failed to relinquish leases at this time rumors were started that the concern planned to drill another test.

Harbor Project To Be Discussed

FULLERTON, May 7.—The board of directors of the Fullerton Chamber of Commerce met yesterday noon at McFarland's cafe for the purpose of receiving reports from various committees. The highway committee was authorized to obtain information as to the possibility of paving the three and one-half miles of unpaved road between Fullerton and the Orange County park. The report will be made at the next meeting by R. T. Davis. A permanent board of control was recommended for the summer playgrounds. The recommendation suggested the appointment of one representative by the city trustees, one by the high school board and another by the grammar school board and they in turn would appoint two other representatives, making a board of control of five members. C. A. Marcy reported that the grammar school board of trustees had authorized the expenditure of $500 for the summer playgrounds. This will be added to the $1000 authorized by the city trustees. The harbor bond election was discussed by the members. The members expressed themselves as favorable to the plan of having an educational meeting some time in the near future for the discussion of this project.

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 7.—John P. Walker, of Long Beach, was last night selected by the city board of trustees to conduct an audit of all books of the city. The audit will cover a period from May 1, 1922. The audit will cost the city about $1500, according to a report made at the trustee meeting. Walker's salary was set at $20 a day. Approximately 30 days will be necessary to complete the audit, it is estimated.

BALBOA, May 7.—Elmer B. Whitson, former Balboa business man, has received his appointment as postmaster at Balboa, it was announced today. Whitson succeeds Fred W. Busey, who resigned recently. Whitson's appointment is effective at once, according to reports, but it is probable that he will not take charge of the post office until the first of next month. No definite date was set for him to take charge. Whitson was a former partner in the Green Dragon cafe here, but recently disposed of his interests.

LEGAL BATTLE OVER H. B. GAS PERMIT LOOMS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 7.—A legal battle between gasoline companies and the city of Huntington Beach loomed last night at a meeting of the city board of trustees, when lawyers representing the Mutual Gasoline company told members of the board that they could not deny the company a permit to lay pipe lines in the city limits.

The application of the Pacific Gasoline company has been under consideration by the board of trustees for several weeks. Last night, a motion was made, with a number of amendments, to allow the permit. J. Schwartz, attorney for the Mutual company, objected to the amendments, declaring that they were unfair to his company.

A proposed tax of one and one-quarter cents per thousand cubic feet of dry gas, sold, delivered or furnished from the plant, was the bone of contention.

It was explained by the representatives of the gasoline company that they proposed to erect a plant to treat wet gas, extract gasoline and return the dry gas to the owner for his own use in any manner he deemed fit. They declared that the charge for delivering the dry gas to the owner would be unfair. City trustees failed to see any discrimination in the proposed amendments, but agreed to meet with representatives of the company next Tuesday evening to discuss the matter thoroughly.

The decision of the city trustees last night, if final, will effect practically every gasoline absorption company in the Huntington Beach field. It is pointed out. Practically all of the gasoline plants are now taking some wet gas from some wells within the city limits and returning dry gas to them, it is pointed out.

The representatives of the Mutual gasoline company propose to carry the matter into the courts if their permit is not granted and if attempts are made to enforce a similar tax on other gasoline companies in the field, the city will meet more opposition, it is said. Mayor C. G. Boster asked the attorney if he realized that the board of trustees could refuse to grant the permit.

Schwartz replied that the board could not refuse to grant the permit as long as his company conformed with ordinances now governing business in Huntington Beach. He declared his company was on an equal footing with any other industry in the city.

It is expected that representatives of practically every gasoline company and every oil company engaged in the gasoline business will be present at the meeting Tuesday night. Companies effected by any ruling by the trustees will be the O. C. Field Gasoline company, the Standard Oil company and the Mutual.

An ordinance providing for the setting of a surface casing was read for the second time and adopted. The ordinance was classified as an emergency measure and will take effect at once. It provides that surface casing be set at a depth of at least 300 feet.

TRUSTEES AT HUNTINGTON DECIDE TO ACCOMMODATE AUTOMOBILISTS IN HURRY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 7.—Slow drivers who endeavor to drive down the center of the state highway through Huntington Beach will be subject to arrest as the result of action taken last night by the city board of trustees here.

No more impatient motorists, in a hurry, will gnash their teeth because some motorist, traveling at five miles an hour is occupying the center of the road.

The city board of trustees last night authorized the painting of parallel white lines on Ocean boulevard, which leads through the city. The center of the street will be reserved for those who are in a hurry. Slow traffic will travel in the space between the white lines and the curbing on either side of the street. The lines will be painted on the street at once with the speed limit of each zone also painted on the street.

The addition of the lines is expected to help the traffic problem greatly and also prevent a number of accidents. Ocean boulevard, which is a section of the coast highway, is 50 feet wide through Huntington Beach and both the slow and fast traffic will have plenty of room. The new ruling will also lengthen the life of the pavement, it is pointed out. Under the new rule, traffic will be distributed over the street.

It is planned to have girls at the Huntington Beach display at all times to welcome visitors.

The Huntington Beach municipal band will play at the orange show on the opening day. W. R. Wharton brought the matter up for action, as requested recently by George Reid, manager of the orange show.

Salaries of a number of employees in the gas department were increased by the board, but due to the abolishment of one office in the gas department, a saving of more than $100 was reported to have been made by the trustees. Former salaries paid in the department amounted to $340 a month. It was pointed out by C. G. Boster, president of the board, under the new plan, the salaries amount to only $735.

A permit was granted to C. K. Morrison to run a light delivery truck onto the municipal pier to deliver bait. According to Morrison, a great increase has been noticed recently in the demand for bait.

A permit was granted to the Wilshire Oil company for a license to wire oil rigs.

An ordinance regulating the placing of sign boards in the city was ordered drawn up by a special committee composed by W. R. Wharton, J. W. Mitchell and A. J. Thedek. The ordinance was ordered drawn up last night following a warm discussion over the subject of allowing two permits for signs in the city.

OUTLOOK GOOD FOR OIL IN NEW BEACH SECTION

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 7.—With the abandonment of the Jameson Oil company's well on Main street near Crest avenue, in the eastern end of the city, near the division line between restricted and unrestricted territory, and the determining of a tentative location for a new well by the Standard Oil company on what is known as the barley field tract, west of town and near the section which was recently opened for oil drilling, indications today were that the Julian Oil corporation and the Wilshire Oil company wells in the newly opened territory may get oil.

The Jameson well definitely settled the question of whether or not there is oil in the eastern section of the city. The well was drilled more or less as a test hole and was spudded to a depth of 412 feet by the Jameson firm. No indications of oil were encountered, according to reports, and the drill was in a light water sand when drilling was stopped. Mechanical trouble also helped influence the company to abandon the well. The rig is being torn down today.

Indications in the western section of the Huntington Beach field are more favorable, however. The Standard Oil company has selected a tentative location for a new well to be known as B-47. The new well will be located several hundred feet east of B-41 and will be fairly close to Twenty-third street, former dividing line between restricted and unrestricted drilling territory. The Standard's B-41 and B-38, the wells now situated closest to Twenty-third street on the barley field acreage, are said to be producing about 600 barrels each. Other wells further west are producing about 350 barrels daily, which leads to the belief that the prospect wells which will be drilled by Julian and Wilshire will be successful.

The Wilshire and Julian companies both had their derricks completed yesterday and machinery and boilers were being set. It is believed that both wells will be spudded in this week. The Julian rig is located at Twenty-second street and Orange avenue and the Wilshire derrick is at Twenty-first street and Walnut avenue, both being as close to the barley field acreage which is being developed by the Standard Oil company. The oil companies are seemingly operating on the principle that the oil in the Standard wells in the barley field tract is from a distinct strata than that found in the other wells in the Huntington Beach field, and that the structure extends under the newly opened territory along the coast. According to reports Standard officials are also of the opinion that the oil in the barley field wells is from a different strata, but believe the strata leads into the ocean instead of along the coast. The Julian and Wilshire wells should prove the matter one way or the other within a few weeks.

One well in the district just north of Palm avenue, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, and just across the restriction line near the grammar school, has been abandoned. It was a redrill job being carried out by J. E. O'Donnell. O'Donnell carried the well to a depth of 3765 feet before abandoning it. No indications were encountered, according to reports. The Standard Oil company is reported to be considering the abandonment of its D 5 well near the grammar school. The well is also a redrill and has been carried to 5000 feet with very poor indications.

BACKS DISCLOSES NUMBER OF NAMES LAW REQUIRES ON PETITIONS FOR NOMINATION

What's in a name? It depends upon the number of names, so far as candidates for political offices are concerned. While candidates are chiefly concerned, it is true, with the letter "X" marked after their own names on the ballot, they are required by law to get a certain number of names on a petition nominating them as candidates, before their own names can appear on the election ballot.

California Journalism was well represented last week in the capital, some of the leading figures of the newspaper world, calling on members of the California delegation in congress and on federal officials.

Charles K. McClatchy, of the Sacramento Bee, accompanied by Mrs. McClatchy, stopped while on his way to New York, where they sailed on the "Homeric" for Europe.

Chester Rowell also spent several days here prior to sailing for Europe.

Both Mr. McClatchy and Mr. Rowell will make a study of European conditions while abroad.

John Francis Neylan, of San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Knowland, of Oakland, stopped over on their way from the Associated Press convention, in New York, as did E. A. Dickson and Dr. Barham, of the Los Angeles Express and Herald, respectively.

California is the third state in the Union in the number of municipalities with zoning ordinances, according to announcement from the department of commerce.

New Jersey leads with 73, New York is second with 72, and California third with 47.

More than half the urban population of the United States lives in zoned cities and towns at the present time, as compared with only about one tenth of the population in 1916.

Whereas there are now 436 municipalities that have zoning ordinances, there were only six in 1916.

Acting upon representations from Senator Hiram Johnson, the post-office department has ordered that the post office at Jerseyville, Mariposa county, one of the oldest in the state be continued.

Recently the department ordered the office discontinued and the mail distributed by a star route. This action brought vigorous protests from patrons, mostly stockraisers, who look forward to development of that mining region as an apple-growing section.

They appealed to Senator Johnson, showing the need of the office, and the department has agreed to withdraw the order discontinuing this office, high up in the Sierras.

The man described by General Pershing as the bravest hero of the World war with the American forces, Sergeant Michael Augustine Donaldson, would be rewarded with a cash payment of $10,000 and paid a pension of $200 a month for life, if a bill introduced by Representative Kahn is enacted.

Sergeant Donaldson has been decorated 32 times by his own and foreign governments. His greatest exploit was not in killing a man, single handed, but in retrieving from in front of a German machine-gun nest a dozen wounded American soldiers, who otherwise would have died had they not been given immediate hospital attention.

Sergeant Donaldson has other exploits to his credit, but this feat performed under heavy fire is declared to be his greatest.

Speaker Longworth has established a precedent in referring to the women members of the house.

In referring to the men members, the custom has been to speak of the "gentlemen from California," etc.

The other day when Representative Kahn, of San Francisco, asked unanimous consent to address the house in her maiden speech, the speaker put the question:

"Is there objection to the request of the gentlewoman from California?" So henceforth it will be gentleman and gentlewoman in referring to members of the house.

The number of names so required depends upon the office which the candidate is seeking, and is based upon the vote cast for that office at the last state election.

With the time for filing nominating petitions, June 27 to July 22, now but a few weeks away, County Clerk J. M. Backs today announced statistics that he has compiled, showing the minimum and maximum number of signatures required on a nominating petition for each office that is to be filled at this year's elections.

Based on Party Vote

In offices falling within the state or national classification, where party lines are drawn, the candidate's petition requirement is based on the vote cast by his particular party at the last state election.

Thus a Republican candidate for the assembly, or for congress, must have more signatures on his petition than a candidate of any other party.

The same requirement applies to the offices of county central committees, the number of signatures necessary also varying in different supervisorial districts. Central committees will be elected at the August primary.

Candidates for any county office are assigned a minimum of 154 signatures and a maximum of 614. Other statistics are:

Gillett's argument was taken up in the senate and resulted in Judge Swayne's acquittal by a large majority. To his dying day, Judge Swayne said he would have been thrown out of office on the trumped charges against him were it not for the young California congressman.

Last week McCoy's Liver Tablets were ordered by a resident of Escherville, Iowa, and a woman in Wichita, Kansas. This week a former customer sent for two packages of McCoy's Non Laxative Cold Tablets to be sent to Sacramento. It only takes one straw to show which way the wind is blowing. These folks had previously used McCoy's Liver Tablets and McCoy's Non Laxative Cold Tablets and they knew from actual experience that McCoy preparations are the best money and experience can produce. McCoy's Liver Tablets contain no calomel, they never gripe and yet their action is positive. They have a tonic effect not obtainable in other laxatives and the dose is never increased.

BIRD LIFE IS BEING STUDIED AT STANFORD

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, May 7.—A second civilization lives on the Stanford campus, with its problems of economics, its social structure, its own system of public safety, its troubles over emigration and immigration. Birds. From the four corners they come twice a year, and twice each year they depart.

Three years ago a program of bird banding was started by the department of zoology under Dr. John O. Snyder's supervision. Since that time students have studied each year the habits of the little winged creatures and their mates and tagged them that their movements might be recorded in some orderly fashion.

Official Survey Station
While the U. S. biological survey has resurrected bird banding as a scientific undertaking for the purpose of adding to the world's knowledge of birds, bird banding dates back to Audubon's time when colored strings were used as metal tags are employed today. These became easily discolored by wind and rain, however, and were of comparatively little value.

Stanford is the official far western station of the biological survey. The campus is plotted as for a military campaign, with definite sectors established. Each of these is a station and accurate records are kept of the bird migrations to each. Dr. Snyder's back yard is one station and there the same flocks have been observed at approximately the same time each year.

Records of Birds
The birds are trapped by bait, the traps being visited several times each day. The student operators are careful with the creatures and the record of each is card catalogued.

One problem under investigation has to do with quail flocks. Is a flock an entity from year to year, with inbreeding, or are they due largely to chance. The study has been in progress three years and will continue at least seven years. The results are only fragmentary to date, but some indications that the flocks are definite and permanent organizations have been found.

The cliff swallow comes in the spring and builds its nest on the stone buildings of the quad. To capture the swallow students go to the nests at night, stuff a handkerchief in the opening to the cavity, place an insect net over the nest, remove the handkerchief and tap lightly on the wall. The bird flutters into the net.

Life Cycle of Bird
Each nest is numbered and the life cycle of a bird studied. It has been found that the birds do return to the same place each year, many times to the same spot of the same general location.

The golden crowned sparrow, summering in Alaska, comes in the winter. He remains here approximately September 15 to April 15. Some have returned to the identical spot the third successive time.

The campus was once a good place for banding, says Dr. Snyder.

SCENE FROM "PIRATES OF PENZANCE," ORANGE COUNTY CHORAL UNION OPERA

Reginald Taylor, as Richard, the pirate king; Edith Cornell, Ruth, a piratical maid-of-all-work, and A. J. Garroway, as Frederic, in the Orange County Choral union's production of "The Pirates of Penzance," at the Santa Ana high school, May 11 and 12.

Musical Production Will Have Its Premier in Anaheim Tonight

"Tonight he dies—or early tomorrow," the pirate king, when he learns that Major General Stanley has saved his life through telling "The Pirates of Penzance" a story that was not true.

One of the highly dramatic moments in the opera by Gilbert and Sullivan occurs when Frederic returns to the pirate band and, through his mistaken sense of duty, feels obliged to inform the king that the father of the girl he loved had gained freedom from himself and daughters from the pirates through practicing a deception. This disclosure delights Ruth, a piratical maid-of-all-work, who has long been in love with Frederic and now sees a faint ray of hope that she will win him back to her.

Edith Cornell, of Santa Ana, taking the part of Ruth, is one of the outstanding features of the production. She again displays her ability in character work. Reginald Taylor, Anaheim, sings the role of Richard, the pirate king, with A. J. Garroway, Orange, taking the role of Frederic.

The Orange County Choral union presents "The Pirates of Penzance" tonight at Anaheim in the auditorium of the high school. It will be given at the high school in Santa Ana on the nights of May 11 and 12. The first presentation of the opera in Anaheim was decided upon as a part of that city's observation

English Autos Equipped With "Cow Catchers"

LONDON, May 7.—The American railroad "cow catcher" has been introduced in London streets in the form of a safety first apparatus on automobiles.

The "cow catcher," as used here, is attached to the front wheels of motor cars, the idea being that the unwary pedestrian will be thrown to one side rather than run over. The device has attracted much attention, as its like has never been seen here before. English locomotives, like those on the continent, are cow-catcherless, having "straight fronts" and to Americans appear as if not completed.

The invention came out just after the announcement was made that more than 10 persons were killed on the roads of England every day last year.

of National Music week.

The sale of tickets for the production in Santa Ana indicates that on opening night the auditorium of the high school will be well filled. Officers of the Choral union have announced that a special student rate for pupils of the various schools of the city has been arranged.

BRENNAN WET CAMPAIGN TO STIR ILLINOIS

CHICAGO, May 7.—The political ingenuity which has been used to make numerous Illinois office holders today is turned to a personal campaign as George E. Brennan, long the king of Illinois Democracy, is seeking a seat in the upper house of congress.

George Brennan is synonymous with things Democratic in Illinois, but his name heretofore has been linked only with the "power behind the throne." When he recently announced himself as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for the senate, it caused a lifting of the eyebrows and a few knowing nods.

Around Chicago, George Brennan is as popular as Al Smith in New York City. Along the Gold Coast, through the loop, and in the tenement districts Brennan is well known. His joviality has made him a character to those who don't understand politics and to those who do know politics, Brennan is known for his worthiness as a boss.

Unites Chicago Organization
He is a character who stands out in Illinois Democratic circles as no other man has since the days of Roger Sullivan. Brennan has welded together a powerful organization in Cook county, Chicago, and has a considerable following in urban Illinois.

Through his work in Chicago he has grown to a common figure in national political circles and reached the peak of his "man making" career in 1924 when he managed the campaign of Al Smith of New York for the Democratic nomination as president. In that case he stepped into the place vacated by the death of Charley Murphy, Tammany sachein.

Brennan doesn't lack the color which surrounds most political bosses. He is short, heavy and walks with a decided limp. Great bushy eyebrows overlook his rather sparkling gray eyes. He is given to long expensive cigars, which many times hang unlighted from rather tight drawn lips.

But joviality in greeting the public, and an iron hand in dealing with his lieutenants, have proved the chief weapons of Brennan's offensive.

Strictly Wet Platform
His entrance into an already interesting race in Illinois has marked a keystone issue in national politics. Brennan has shoved aside such issues as World court, waterways, air plans and is out on a strictly wet plank. The extent of the dampness is up to the people.

Of course in Illinois he has his own localized issue of home rule, but it is hidden behind the importance of the vigorous wet fight which Brennan plans.

The Illinois political boss has always been known as an ardent foe of prohibition. He has backed an anti-prohibition political drives, therefore his coming out on a wet plank was not surprise. But when he made it his only issue, Illinois voters were rather surprised. National wets were elated.

The "boss" plans a vigorous campaign. His private car will be parked at sidings all over the state. And besides Brennan doing the campaigning there probably will be Al Smith, a personal friend, and Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York to aid Brennan. Other Democratic wet leaders may come to Illinois also.

Voters of Illinois are inclined to look with glee on the forthcoming campaign. They know Brennan's astuteness, his vigorous words on behalf of beer and wine, and his ability to use embittered phrases against political opponents.

WHAT EVERY DOCTOR KNOWS

The successful use of Acidophilus milk in certain types of intestinal disorders is now a recognized fact.

Many of the poisons in the human system that impair the digestion and pollute the blood, originate from the undesirable bacteria of the intestines.

Acidophilus milk is used by the medical profession to effect a transformation of the flora of the intestines, eliminating the undesirable bacteria and implanting in their place a desirable health-giving flora.

Acidophilus milk is prescribed and is acknowledged to be a specific therapy in cases of intestinal toxemias, chronic constipation, chronic diarrhoea and other intestinal disorders. Also recommended in treatment of rheumatic conditions and facial eruptions traced to intestinal origin, and in Summer diarrhoea and other intestinal toxic conditions of infants.

A-DOF-LUS has the same health qualities as Acidophilus milk, which your doctor has long known, but which has, heretofore, never gained popular use because of its excessive cost.

Now, because of a special process developed in our laboratory, you, and every one, can afford to have it. You need no longer suffer from constipation, rheumatism, toxemia, facial eruptions which result from intestinal disorders, because the price of this delicious health beverage is now only 20c a quart delivered to your home.

A-DOF-LUS

used regularly, will act surely and naturally. Cathartics only give temporary relief. Acidophilus—the vital elements contained in A-DOF-LUS—are natural inhabitants of your intestinal tract. In the great majority of adults the intestinal tract is loaded with harmful putrefactive bacteria, to the exclusion of the vital acidophilus elements. These harmful bacteria cause many poisons, which have a decidedly harmful effect upon your health—in many cases even causing premature old age.

Make A-DOF-LUS a Part of Your Regular Diet

By consuming A-DOF-LUS regularly the friendly vital elements drive out these harmful bacteria and restore the normal functions of the body.

In addition to these health qualities, A-DOF-LUS is a splendid and delicious food beverage—a balance ration easily digested.

Have A-DOF-LUS on the family table at every meal. Ask for it for your downtown lunch.

Sold only in milk bottles—double-capped and sealed until it reaches your hands.

At soda fountains, cafes, clubs, lunch counters, or delivered by your milkman, 20c a quart.

Discarded Pipes Bring Big Prices

LONDON, May 7.—Tobacco pipes used by the noted in England hold just as much interest for Englishmen as the "Dawes pipe," used by the American vice president, holds for Americans.

Recently one of the briars of Stanley Baldwin, the prime minister, brought 15 pounds at a charity bazaar auction. Since then, many members of the government and others of note have been besieged with requests for their discarded pipes.

Lord Eustace Percy, minister of education, as a rule smokes a corn cob, bearing the label, "Made in Missouri," with a clay pipe for a change, but when asked to part with these for charity, he declined, giving instead a little used meerschaum, which sold at a high price.

The Prince of Wales gives most of his cast off briars to his valet to be disposed of as he sees fit.

Santa Ana Veteran Rebekahs held a benefit tea Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Hattie Peters, 110 West First street. A short program was presented. Mrs. Clara Wedgewood and Mrs. Margaret Erickson gave several readings and Mrs. James Henry rendered two whistling solos.

Members on the hostess committee were Mrs. Hattie Peters, chairman; Mrs. Laura Marcher, Mrs. Arletta Phillips, Mrs. Rose Morrison and Mrs. Effie Means.

Members will meet Friday at I. O. O. F. hall for an all-day meeting, when Orange Veteran Rebekahs will be guests of the local organization. A pot luck luncheon will be served at noon and there will be a grab bag.

Great California Fruit Year Seen

SACRAMENTO, May 7.—California is going to have a record fruit crop this year.

Such was the prediction of 150 packing houses managers of the Pacific Fruit exchange, who met here for their annual pre-season business session.

J. L. Nagle, general manager of the exchange, estimated it would ship 16,000 carloads of fruit this year and that its business would total $22,000,000, breaking previous records. Last year its business amounted to approximately $17,000,000.

Fish Line Hauls In Whiskey Jugs

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., May 7.—Instead of a string of cat fish, officers hauling in a "night line" in the Pasquotanka river, 47 miles below Elizabeth City, were astonished to find 11 five-gallon jugs of corn whiskey. The first pull convinced them that it was snagged and they were about to give up their search for contraband liquor in the vicinity. Later, however, on dragging the river bed with grappling hooks they became suspicious and gave the catfish line another and more vigorous pull. Two arrests were made.

Golfers in India Prove 'Rough Shy'

CARMEL, May 7.—When Sam Blythe, noted writer, comes home from the Dutch West Indies, the Philippines, India and Europe next week, his golfing on the Pebble Beach links may be affected by an incident that occurred in India. He was golfing with an Englishman and noticed that his opponent did not go into the rough looking for balls out of bounds. He asked the Englishman why he neglected to do this. The American author was told that all balls going into the rough belonged to the cobras and from that time on Blythe never looked for a lost ball.

CORONA DEL MAR

CORONA DEL MAR, May 7.—Dr. R. A. Harris and wife, of Los Angeles, were week-end visitors to this locality.

Nearly all of Corona del Mar's population turned out on last Thursday evening for a grunion hunt in Buck Gulch. Several parties assembled here, some being from other localities. A large number of the Corona del Mar people brought materials for a bountiful lunch. Weiners and faces were roasted in the huge bonfire, and coffee made over the coals. Corona del Mar folks present were Mr. and Mrs. C. Stukeby, Mr. and Mrs. Mustard, O. A. Rawlings, Mr. Yerkes, J. P. Austin, Mr. and Mrs. William Dunn, Wm. Noonan and family, T. H. ## ONCE TOAST OF PARIS TRIES TO OVERLOOK PAST

THUILLERIES, France, May 7.—A pointed church tower dominating the sloping roofs of forty-odd houses, a hillside cemetery with decaying tombstones—such is the panorama of Thuileries, little village lost in a remote corner of the Vosges mountains.

But this peaceful country landscape incloses its mystery, something more than local tradition and rural ghosts. All that is left of the war, linked with Rejane and Sarah Bernhardt as one of the three most accomplished French actresses, lives in a house on the outskirts of Thuileries.

Hides Away in Vosges Mts. Lavalliere, for whom an admirer decorated a luncheon table with $200 worth of rare lavender orchids, Lavalliere the exquisite, hides here with her son, broken in health and mind, almost forgotten by the world, which she was supposed to have deserted for a Carmelite convent in 1917.

It was a dream that called Eve Lavalliere from the stage to "take up her cross" and help the poor and suffering. She thus described that dream:

"I thought of all the reckless extravagances of which I had been guilty or of which I had been the object—Then from above, I heard a deep sweet, rich voice saying: 'Help these people! Don't add to the sins of the world and increase the sufferings of the poor. Don't be a wilful parasite of society. Take up your cross!'"

Phantom Figures Crowd Stage. The dream grew stronger and more importunate with time, until phantom figures of the poor crowded on the stage while she was playing and drove her lines from her head.

Over the door of her modest semi-clostral house in the Vosges, is a statuette of the Virgin, hands filled with flowers. Madame Lavalliere receives no one, but it is impossible to enter the house; even, to Madame Lavalliere's bedroom. On the walls are religious images, statues of the Virgin, pious engravings. In a corner, last vestige of the past, is a photograph of the actress in evening gown, arms and breast bare.

A woman attendant, who said she was Madame Lavalliere's adviser and nurse, was asked about the actress' health.

"Not very good. She has a perforated kidney and suffers greatly. But how courageous she is! Never complaining, and resigning her most agonizing pains to the mercy of God."

She Wants to Forget Past. "And she never talks of her past, of theater?"

"Never. She wants to forget it all. She won't even have any newspapers in the house."

"Didn't she enter a Carmelite convent for a while and have to leave because the regime was too severe for her?"

"That's a story that should be stopped, and denied once and for all! Never did Madame Lavalliere enter such a convent as a nun. She was only affiliated with a Carmelite convent, remaining always in the Third Order, the members of which are lay-members, who have not officially joined the order, but live in its headquarters."

New Statue Shows Hopeful Lincoln

OREGON, Ill., May 7.—A cheerful Lincoln, young and hopeful, is the Lorado Taft statue of the emancipator, now in the making in the sculptor's shack-studio here on the Eagles Nest bluff, overlooking Rock river.

"I had rather tired of the sad bowed-headed 'Lincolns,'" he said. "I am making a cheerful Lincoln. I have backed the gaunt figure against a desk-like object and shown him resting his hands upon it. It gives a monumental mass and he holds up his head as if he were really grateful to straighten out his neck."

"As Lincoln never wore a beard until after he went to Washington as president, I have shown him without it, following pretty faithfully Leonard Volk's admirable bust, made from life, in 1860."

Single Dance May Prove Expensive

NEW YORK, May 7.—One dance may cost William J. Wilkison $60,000. That sum is asked of him through lawsuits brought by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Gomez, Mrs. Gomez, who seeks $50,000, charges that Wilkison "negligently fell with her" while they were dancing at a club dance at the Hotel Astor.

TRY MAGNESIA FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

To Neutralize Acidity and Fermentation. Prevents Indigestion, Sour, Gassy Stomach

People who suffer from indigestion usually have tried peppermint, charcoal, drugs and various digestive aids and know these things will not cure their trouble—in some cases do not even give relief.

But before giving up to chronic dyspepsia, just try the effect of a little Bisurated Magnesia—not the ordinary commercial carbonate, citrate or milk, but pure Bisurated Magnesia, which you can obtain from practically any druggist in either powder or tablet form.

Take a teaspoonful of the powder or four compressed tablets with a little water after your next meal, and see what a difference this makes. It will instantly neutralize the dangerous, harmful acid in the stomach which now causes your food to ferment and sour, making gas, wind, flatulence, heartburn and the bloated, heavy, lumpy feeling that seems to follow most everything you eat. You can enjoy your meals without a fear of indigestion—Adv.

Royal Full House To Visit Britain

"CARDUI has done so much for my health I feel that I am deeply in debt to it," says Mrs. W. E. Stewart, of Henry River, N. C., whose picture is printed above. "I was in a terribly run-down condition. My back ached and I had frequent smothering spells. I lost weight until I was down to 108 pounds. I would sometimes faint from sheer weakness. "I just could not get started on the uphill road, somehow. I felt like I was in chains. I tried many things, but somehow nothing helped me. I was very despondent. It just looked like I never was going to be well again. "It came to me one day that I had used Cardui before I was married, and that it had really helped me then, so why not give it a trial along with the rest? After taking a bottle I found I was quite a little stronger. My back did not hurt so much and I was able to do more. "I kept up the Cardui for several months and found it to be the very thing for my trouble. The weakness disappeared. ## DOES MALE OR FEMALE MAKE BEST TEACHER?

Is a male teacher superior to his female colleague? Does he render more effective service and does he get better results? These are the questions which agitate the voters in the Yorba Linda grammar school district, it was revealed today, in the county superintendent's office.

And upon the answer of the mooted question, there hangs a tale, inquiries disclosed. A few days ago, Mrs. Mabel M. Paine, principal of the Yorba Linda grammar school, tendered her resignation at the express invitation of the school trustees. Her place will be taken by L. R. Jones, now principal of the Villa Park grammar school, who, it is understood, already has been elected for the Yorba Linda position.

According to information obtained in the county superintendent's office, the trustees thought that the best interest of the school and the pupils would be served by having a man teacher in charge of the school. Opposition to this view was taken, however, by a number of women voters, who pointed out that some of the biggest school jobs in the country are being held by women. Dissatisfied with the action of the trustees, the objectors appeared this morning at the county superintendent's office and asked for the reinstatement of Mrs. Paine. County Superintendent R. P. Mitchell advised the delegation that his office has no jurisdiction in the matter and that the circumstances and that the "hiring" and "firing" of teachers rest with the school trustees. Mrs. Paine has been principal of the Yorba Linda school for the last four years, it was ascertained.

15 ARE INITIATED BY BROTHERHOOD

Fifteen candidates were given the obligation at a meeting Friday night of the Fraternal Brotherhood. They were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Magee, Mr. and Mrs. Paul James, Andrew de Smet, Benjamin de Smet, Mrs. Katherine Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Pierpont, Miss Martha Babbitt, Mrs. Frances Jasper, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Dysart, Claude Staraner and Miss Lucille Laney.

The initiation placed Santa Ana in the lead in a membership contest between this lodge and the Long Beach order. Santa Ana won the contest, with a score of 37 to 20. As a result, members of the local organization soon will be guests of the Long Beach brotherhood at a dance and supper.

Following the meeting Friday night, the drill team put on a dance at El Camino hall. Two hundred were present. There were 20 guests from the Long Beach lodge.

FRATERNAL NEWS

OLD GLORY IS PRESENTED TO TUSTIN SCOUTS

Tustin Boy Scouts are the possessors of a beautiful new flag, presented to them Wednesday evening at the Tustin grammar school by members of the Daughters of Union Veterans. After the singing of "America" by everyone, Mrs. MacCarter, patriotic instructor, made the presentation speech, in which she expressed the hope that the boys would always remember to honor and protect the flag and the country for which it stands.

The flag was accepted on behalf of the boys by Scoutmaster Gaylord, who said it was his belief that the boys would live up to the ideals it represented.

The flag given to the Boy Scouts was the fourth to be given to various persons and organizations this year by the Daughters. Others who received flags were Mrs. Lydia Scammon, charter member of the order, who resides at Laguna Beach, the Woman's club, of Laguna Beach, and the junior department of the Methodist Episcopal church.

The closing number on the program was an exhibition of drills by the Boy Scouts.

Tuesday the Daughters served a pot luck dinner, followed by an afternoon session. It out-of-town guests at the meeting were Mr. McKibben and Mrs. Newman, of Orange, and Mrs. Lydia Scammon, of Laguna Beach.

KNIGHTS TO ATTEND STATE GRAND LODGE

The regular monthly convention meeting at Anaheim will attract members of the Santa Ana lodge tonight. Knights will be present from nine lodges, Anaheim, Bellflower, Brea, Downey, Fullerton, Norwalk, Santa Ana, Tustin and Whittier.

Edward W. Cochems and Gilbert P. Campbell will attend the grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, to be held at Santa Barbara, May 17 to 21. Mr. Cochems will be accompanied by Mrs. Cochems, who will attend as a delegate to the grand temple of the Pythian Sisters. Mrs. Ruth Williamson will also attend as a delegate to that convention. Both Mr. Cochems and Mrs. Williamson are most excellent chiefs, past, of the organization. Peter Isherwood was also elected a delegate to the state convention but will be unable to attend.

A feature of the convention is to be an address by Supreme Chancellor John Ballantyne of Boston, Mass. The convention will mark the retirement of Frank F. Merriam of Long Beach as state chancellor and commander and the probable election of Fred Jones of Los Angeles, at present vice chancellor, to the position. Headquarters are to be established at the Carrillo hotel.

Several candidates for the rank of page appeared for the initial rites of the organization at the meeting Wednesday evening of this week.

Ladies' Night Is Held By Masons

"Ladies' night" was observed by members of Jubilee lodge, F. and A. M. Saturday night, when members and their wives went to the Masonic temple for dinner. Miss Marjorie Walton rendered a piano solo, after which Miss Georgia Belle Walton, accompanied by her sister, Miss Marjorie, played several violin numbers. A talk on ancient Mexico and its ruins as found today was given by Robert Speed, past master of the lodge. While the men held their business meeting, the time was passed by their wives in playing cards. This was the second "ladies' night" for Jubilee lodge.

Women's Benefit Members Guests

S. A. NEIGHBORS OF WOODCRAFT HOLD MEETING

Neighbors of Woodcraft met for a business and social session in the M. W. A. hall Monday night. Arrangements were made for attending the school of instruction, to be held in Riverside Monday night, May 17, at 8 o'clock. Grand Guardian Neighbor Minnie Hiner will conduct the school and asks that all officers be at the Fraternity Brotherhood hall, Riverside, on that date.

As the date of the school is the same as that upon which the local lodge meets, it has been decided to dispense with the meeting in order that all who wish may go to Riverside. Those who desire to attend the school are requested to phone 647-M or 2602-R.

Following the business meeting this week a program was presented. Beryl Ludlow sang "West of the Great Divide," a trio, composed of Pearl Lewis, Eddie Jones and Donald Dearth, played a number of Hawaiian numbers, followed by a piano solo by Louise Masin. A novelty act was presented, with Dorothea McCune, Eddie Jones and Sterling Limbaugh taking parts. Donald Dearth played several ukulele solos and a vocal quartet, Hugh Runnels, Joe Pink, Elliot Best and Curtis Vaughn, sang two numbers. Their accompanist was Miss Elise Harter. Final numbers on the program were a duet, by Marietta Limbaugh and Beryl Ludlow, and a vocal solo, by Donald Dearth.

Following the program, refreshments were served.

Is Doubting Thomas No Lenger
"All medicines and doctors for stomach trouble proved worthless in my case. Everybody recommended something else and nothing helped, so I became a doubting Thomas as to any cure. While in St. Louis a party praised MAYR'S so highly that I bought a bottle and I am now a doubting Thomas no longer." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. ## The WOMAN'S DAY

Tidbits
Time was when our story tellers, singers and poets sang of this thing love that "to the woman all of life is, to the man but passing incident." Now comes Judge Walter S. Gates declaring that men take the marriage vow seriously, women but lightly. "Girls marry for adventure, for meal tickets. Men marry for home and take obligations to home seriously." I don't believe one word of it. It's six of one, half dozen 't'her.

Poetess Speaks
Being on the subject of love and matrimony, Elizabeth Barrett Browning, wife of the poet Robert Browning, and one of the world's few women who possessed both the joy of self-expression through her work and a marvellously happy married life, wrote "A Woman's Question":

"You require a cook for your mutton and beef;
I require a far better thing;
A seamstress you're wanting for stockings and shirts—
I look for a man and a king.

If you cannot do this, a laundress and cook
You hire with little pay;
But a woman's heart and a woman's life
Are not to be won that way."

Pauline Says
Did you ever hear tell of "A Rest Day for Faces?" Neither did I, albeit I know all about fish week, hash week, prune day, rutabaga week, and tutti-frutti Sundays. Pauline Starke says—"One day a week the face should be free, unhampered by any make-up. I set aside one day a week in which to rest the face. Arising I wash my face in warm water and a pure soap. I rinse the soap with warm water and apply cold water. No rouge, no lipstick, no powder, no cream, all day long."

Wear on "Face Rest Day"
Most maids and matrons must wear special toggery on "Face Rest Day," or the populace will be unable to stand the shock of the assault to their aesthetic senses. If she would look extra smart, she might wear an ensemble costume of short skirt and three-quarter coat of different but harmonizing colors and material. Thus, black crepe skirt and beige kasha coat or beige skirt and navy coat.

Homely Wives
Men married to homely women are much happier than men married to beautiful girls, thinks a movie actor who might get unduly puffed up if I mentioned him by name. He explains—"A beautiful woman thinks she can rest upon her laurels, but a homely one must be cheerful and have a ready wit to get by at all. The beautiful woman thinks that she does not need to learn to cook and sew and run a house."

A TOUCH OF PEP
The transparent, thin evening gown of this season that is carried out in black chiffon or lace is quite frequently trimmed with rhinestones or tiny fest incrustations that give glitter and life to it.

A FRENCH IDEA
The small velvet hat, very soft and crushable, is shown for summer and is particularly effective in black with the all white costume.

It is easier to listen to reason than to reasons.

COUNSEL

Boy, there are false lights to lure you astray,
Beware of them ever!
Life is not lived in a week or a day.
'Tis a slow march to glory and long is the way
And none is so clever
To laugh at the laws and to mock at the rules,
So be not deceived by the brilliant fools.

Money you must have, but never a cent
More than is needful,
Be wise in the way that your silver is spent,
But man to be miserly never was meant,
Be watchful and heedful,
Your life shall be judged by its ultimate worth,
Be more than a maker of money on earth.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

NO. 5—THE CHIMNEY SWEEP AND THE RAG MAN

But just then the black creature laughed and showed a row of white teeth.

The Twins and the little Rag-bag Whiffet, who had lost his shadow, left the fairy second-hand store behind the barn, and went on their travels.

Suddenly they all stopped and stared very hard at something or someone who was coming down the road.

"Can this be my shadow?" said the Whiffet anxiously. "It's certainly black enough!"

But just then the black creature laughed and showed a row of white teeth. So they knew he was no shadow.

It was the Chimney Sweep. "No, I'm not your shadow," he exclaimed. "I like meat and potatoes and pie, and when I'm washed I'm white. But say, haven't I seen you some place before?"

"I don't know. I'm one of the Whiffets that lives in the rag-bag in the attic. My parents gave me my fortune in buttons and started me out in the world to improve my education. I lost my shadow first thing when I was crossing the stile," said the Whiffet.

"Oh, ho! You should go to the Rag Man then," said the Chimney Sweep. "He knows all about rag-bag people and attic folk."

"Why of course!" declared Nancy. "Come right along, Whiffet. We know where the Rag Man lives. Thank you, Chimney Sweep. I think you should have a button for being so kind."

"Certainly," said the Whiffet, reaching into his pocket and giving the Sweep a shot button.

"Thank you," said the Chimney Sweep. "Now my shoe will stay on. I lost the last button the day before yesterday down a chimney I was cleaning. It fell through the stove pipe and into the soup, and I heard Mister Smith say he'd found a black bean in his soup at lunch time. I wonder what he'd have said if he'd found my shoe instead of a button."

"I suppose he'd have said that he'd found a black marrow-bone!" said Nick.

They all laughed at this—all except the Whiffet, who was still too much worried about his shadow to smile.

Then the Sweep trudged along his way, dragging his broom behind him, and the Twins and the poor little Whiffet went on their way toward the Rag Man's house.

"Come in," said the Rag Man's poll parrot, when the door-bell rang. "The water's fine, ha, ha, ha!" he added when they had stepped inside.

"Why, hello here!" cried the Rag Man in a jolly voice. "I was just going to take my horse and wagon and go out. What can I

OVERWEIGHT? GET A BABY, SAYS SCIENCE

MISS FLORA ROSE

Miss Flora Rose

ITHACA, N. Y., May 7.—Playing bridge is an aid to reducing weight. So is collecting stamps, becoming a spellbound radio fan or having an adorable baby in the home.

Or, attacking the weight reduction problem from another angle, one may help along the desired result simply by getting out from under as many as possible of life's worries and pains.

Miss Flora Rose explains all this quite scientifically, even though the connection between pounds and pleasure may sound remote. Miss Rose is director of the college of home economics of Cornell University.

"One of the principal reasons for over-eating," Miss Rose says, "is to provide compensation for the ills of life. People over-eat because they find pleasure in eating and enjoy the taste of food. In addition, however, they think that to eat what they want and as much as they want is a way of evening up for what they miss or suffer."

"I know a man once—and you probably know similar people—who excused himself for eating too much by saying, 'Well, it's about the only pleasure I have left.'"

"So long as people indulge themselves in this manner, they cannot keep down to normal, healthy weight. But suppose you supply such a person with other interests or pleasures, in which there will be a conscious recompense for troubles. This new plaything or diversion will be different for each individual, but it must make the impression on the subject that life is being kind in this respect."

"One of the best substitutes for over-eating, perhaps, would be a baby. Here is distraction from other worries and is a real pleasure. Furthermore, the baby may inspire the parent to want to set a better example of health habits or make a better appearance."

Menus for the Family

Breakfast—Grape fruit, cereal, thin cream, crisp bran toast, soft cooked eggs, crisp boiled bacon, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Asparagus short-cake, cottage cheese, whole wheat bread, rhubarb, bread pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Veal timbales, creamed carrots, head lettuce with Russian dressing, rice soufflé, graham rolls, milk, coffee.

The veal timbales are planned to use up some of the "left-over" of the roast suggested in the preceding menu. This is an interesting way to use up veal, chicken or ham. The meats can be used singly or in combination. A creamed vegetable of some sort prevents the meal from being too dry, serving as a sauce for the timbales as well as the vegetable of the dinner.

Queer Quirks of NATURE.

CURIOSITY MADE THIS BIRD A MURDERER

BY ARTHUR N. PACK

President, The American Nature Association

On the great island of New Zealand has long lived a parrot called from its cry the Kea. Naturally it is a vegetarian and as its abiding place is among the rocks high on the crazy summits, it was long known only as a harmless species, and was even regarded with a sort of affection by the settlers.

But like many a creature of the wilds it has fallen under the spell of civilization, which has proved its undoing. In this particular case the fault is its own curiosity, for it has been unable to withstand temptation.

About sixty years ago, when sheep raising had become one of New Zealand's successful industries, the herders began to notice that many of the sheep had sore or mutilated backs. The inoffensive little Kea was the last one to be suspected, but it was finally proved to be the offender.

Matters grew worse, for the birds, not content with pecking the backs of the animals, clung to the helpless creatures, their strong claws fast finding lodgment in the thick wool of the sheep and pecked their way clear to the body cavity, their object being the fat that surrounded the kidneys. This, of course, resulted in the death of the sheep.

Once this was proven, war was declared on the former favorite, but for long its destruction was by no means easy. Its stronghold was among the rock crannies on the snowy summits, where it raised its young in the dead of winter.

Living specimens are occasionally found in zoological parks, however, and the greenish red captives betray singular abilities which made them both interesting and annoying to the keepers.

They delight in turning on the water from the faucet which supplies the bathing pools, and in many ways show seemingly precocious habits which have evidently developed from that trait of curiosity which probably led to their discovery that the fat of sheep was good to eat, and which was their downfall.

Civil war still grips China! At the top is a picture taken after the recent battle at Sinyanchow, in Honan province. It shows a field battery of the anti-Red forces. Below is a photo taken in the grounds of the Temple of Heaven at Peking, showing the great horde of war prisoners that are incarcerated there. The imprisonment of these men in Peking is a source of constant worry to officials, as citizens bitterly resent their presence.

PASADENA, Cal., May 7.—Declaring that the attitude of the Amateur Athletic union seemed to him unfair, Charley Hoff, world's champion pole vaulter indicated here today that he would not make his scheduled appearance in San Francisco tomorrow.

Although the Norwegian athlete answered most questions with an "I don't know," he did declare that he could not understand "you Americans."

Hoff said that two weeks were required for him to get into good trim.

"I had less than a week to train in San Francisco. I could not get in shape in that short time. Besides that I was just from the long and strenuous trip here from the east."

Hoff has received an ultimatum from the A. A. U. that unless he competes in San Francisco tomorrow he will be banned entirely from other American meets. The pole vaulter does not seem to be worrying about it.

Women Need a Mild Laxative —Not a "Physic"

DR. W. B. CALDWELL
AT THE AGE OF 83

Countless girls and women now know how foolish and needless it is to "purge" and "physic" themselves to avoid sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, sallow skin, colds, or sour, gassy stomach.

They have found that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those heretofore chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate girl or woman. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

BREA

BREA, May 7.—Several members of the Lions club, with their guests, left this morning for El Centro, where they will be present at the institution of a Lions club. The entire party motored through, leaving here about 9 o'clock. Those in the party were C. H. Woodruff, Harry Ray, E. F. Hurst, J. R. Collins, L. A. Hogue, G. W. Bird, G. H. Chesley, C. C. Jarvis, W. A. Culp, W. N. Hubbard, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Phelps, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Yost and Mrs. Stella Keene.

Members of the Young People's union of the Baptist church will produce a Mother's day pageant at the Baptist church at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening. On May 12, the Baptist state convention meets in Pomona and many from the local church are planning to attend the all day and evening sessions.

In the final contest of the annual Orange county music contest, held at the local high school Tuesday afternoon, Brea-Olinda took second place with a grade of 97 per cent. Tustin and Huntington Beach tied for first place with an almost perfect score, an inconsequential error on the part of each team resulting in a grade of 99 1/2 per cent. Brea-Olinda students competing were the Misses Nondys Smith, Ruth Livingston and Mildred Montgomery.

With only three more of the league games to play, the Brea-Olinda team is today meeting the Tustin team on the latter's field. On May 11, the Anaheim team will play here, the series ending on May 14, when the local team will play at Orange. Brea-Olinda has been playing hard luck so far in the series, having won but two games and one tie of the nine games played to date, but the players are confident of taking third place before the end of the series.

Mrs. Florence Snyder, of San Diego, has returned to her home after several days spent with her mother, Mrs. Alice Charman.

In view of the fact that they are to leave soon on an extended trip to New Hampshire and Maine, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Yates, formerly residing on an oil lease near Brea, motored over from Los Angeles this week and spent several days with old friends in and near Brea.

W. R. Minor, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Leora Cuming, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Templeman, drove to Monrovia Tuesday and spent the evening with the family of an uncle, Jack Russell.

Beginning the trip by boat, Mrs. C. H. Woodruff left Wednesday morning for Corvallis, Ore., to be present at the graduation of her son, Clinton, from college next week. Mrs. Woodruff expects to be away about six weeks, during which time she will visit with relatives and friends in Washington, Oregon and Colorado.

Baseball season opens for Brea Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock when the Brea Merchants team meets the fast I. O. F. team of Los Angeles in the Brea bowl. This team is under the management of Toby Shipley and Bob Shanks, who promise some fast and interesting games this season. Members of the team are as follows: Bush, Blackburn, Tom Craig, Elder, Fields, Griffith, Price, Sweet, Thompson, Wallace and Jim Leach. Local concerns sponsoring this team are the Baldwin Motor company, Brea garage, Brea bakery, Brea Boiler works, Brea Progress, Brea Electric company, Bird and Allen, Bennett Radio shop, Close Drug store, Harry Ray, Ole Oleon, Tom Craig, Orange County Transfer company, First National bank, White Way Barber shop and the Union Oil company.

Narrowly escaping serious injury when their car was struck by a machine at an intersection on the Compton road Wednesday afternoon, G. W. Bird and J. L. Allen each received bruises about the head. Their car was only slightly damaged by the impact. The other car figuring in the collision was badly damaged but the driver escaped unhurt.

At the regular meeting of the Brea Parent-Teacher association, held in the Brea grammar school Tuesday afternoon, officers for the coming year were elected. Mrs. A. V. Sullivan again being chosen president. Others were Mrs. Bertha Blackmore, first vice president; Mrs. F. J. Anderson, second vice president; Mrs. J. T. Salvesson, third vice president; Mrs. A. L. Cone, treasurer; Mrs. E. E. Anderson, secretary; Mrs. J. A. McCabe, historian; Mrs. Myrtle Clayton, parliamentarian. The Camp Fire Girls provided the program, which consisted of songs and ceremonies enjoyed on the lawn of the school grounds. Members of the Laurel Parent-Teacher association were guests for the afternoon.

After an absence of several weeks on a combined business and pleasure trip in Santa Cruz, Mrs. F. H. Jacobs came down to her home in Brea Sunday only to return to Santa Cruz Tuesday, where she probably will remain for some time. She was accompanied on the return trip by her son, Fred Kaylor.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sewell, former Brea residents, motored over from their home at Ocean-side and spent the week-end with old friends in and near Brea.

V. W. Russell is interested in the promotion of an oil company in that vicinity, that there is quite a decided activity in oil development in and near that city.

Friends of the Rev. Owen Hornburg, formerly pastor of the Congregational church in Brea, will be interested to know that he has accepted the pulpit of the Temple Community church in Pasadena.

Hostesses at the public card party to be given by the American Legion auxiliary in Legion hall this evening are Mrs. A. B. Burns and Mrs. Harry Yarborough. Five hundred will be played and after the games, prizes will be awarded and refreshments served.

Herbert Ball, who for the past several months has been employed at the Pacific Electric depot in Brea, has been transferred by the company to the Compton station. He is being succeeded here by P. R. Bedding, who comes here from the Compton station. Mr. Ball's removal from Brea comes as a distinct disappointment to the Boy Scout troops, as he has been very popular with them as their scout master and has worked faithfully for the upbuilding of the organization here. His work with the Scouts will be temporarily taken by Major Lee, former Scoutmaster. As soon

GUN IS MOST USED WEAPON OF DEATH

SACRAMENTO, May 7.—Fire-arms continue as the most used murder weapons in California.

Of 220 homicides reported to the state bureau of vital statistics during 1925, there were 225 perpetrated by "shooting irons," L. E. Ross, chief of the bureau, said. Cutting or piercing instruments were used in 48 slayings in the state last year. Other means, unclassified, were used to dispatch 47 homicide victims.

Four cases of infanticide, which involves the slaying of children under one year, were reported. The previous year two infanticides came to the attention of the bureau.

Railroad Fares In France Jump

PARIS, May 7.—Summer vacations in France will be more expensive for tourists this year with a new 10 per cent increase in all railroad fares going into effect, probably early in the month. The new rates will make journeys more than three times as costly as they were in July, 1914. The 10 per cent increases, now being prepared by the minister of public works, added to those put in force the first of the year, make a total of 25 per cent since January 1. The new first class rate work out at virtually 2 cents a mile.

PLEATS IN GROUPS

The pleated skirt of this season is more apt to be pleated in groups than in the usual even manner.

as Mr. Hall can rent or sell his home at 432 South Orange street, he expects to move his family to Compton, to which place he is now commuting.

Mrs. Mary Sewell, owner of the Sewell block in this city, visited here the first of the week. Death came to J. L. Bogart, 40, at the Fullerton hospital Tuesday morning following an operation for goiter. Mr. Bogart had been in ill health for several months. Surviving him are his widow, Mrs. Isabel Bogart, of 113 West Birch street; an adopted son, James Kewish, of the same address; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bogart, of Hutchinson, Kans., who are enroute to attend the funeral; a brother, Frank Bogart, of Carlton, Kans. ### TALBERT

TALBERT, May 7.—Meetings of the Newbert protection district directors and those of the Talbert drainage district were held Tuesday, and George Bushard and John Pope, of this place, attended the meetings.

The river board voted to lay off the dredge for a month to await the drying out of the river bed before resuming operations, which will include the building of reinforced levees on each side of the river. Work has progressed as far as a point just south of the Talbert river bridge and will be carried on to the Costa Mesa river bridge. The dredger will be overhauled while idle.

The Talbert ditch directors reported the try-out of the new ditch cleaner, which was received from the factory a few weeks ago. Although not having been thoroughly tested as yet, the machine has proved most satisfactory so far, and eliminates the main hand cleaning crew. L. J. Bushard is in charge of the ditcher and is assisted by John Boer, of this place, and George Hetzler, of Balboa. Frank Cairelli, foreman of the hand crew, is retained in the district's service.

Mrs. A. F. Swift, Miss Mildred Swift and Gwendolyn Swift attended the festival given by the pupils of the Huntington Beach grammar school recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Davis are the parents of a son, born May 2, at their home at Talbert. The new arrival has been named Robert.

Mr. and Mrs. George Bushard entertained at their guests Wednesday, their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bushard, of Fullerton, and their son-in-law, and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Way, and two small daughters, of Long Beach.

A number of picnicers were house guests over the week-end at the W. W. Bushard cabin in Silverado canyon. Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Talbert and Mrs. Charles Ward were in the company.

Mrs. Uler Luker is quite ill at her home. A physician was called in Tuesday.

Does this Happen at Your House?

Here's the business man at the bathroom door.
With his morning's grouch and his shaving lard—
Impatiently cursing the air;
He wouldn't be wearing this uncouth frown.
He wouldn't be worried 'bout gettin' to town
If he had enough fixtures of "Kohler Ware!"

Consider poor Dad in his mornin's wrath.
Waiting his turn for his daily bath—
Razor in hand, a scowl on his face—
A towel on his arm, his hair out of place—
You can save his temper, you can save his glare
By installing more fixtures of "Kohler Ware!"

LONG BEACH.—Long Beach outer harbor rock work is now one-fifth completed. But the hardest part of the job is yet to come, Major R. G. McGlone, harbor superintendent states. It is the Long Beach breakwater on which work will start some time next month. The total delivery of rock during April by the Hauser Construction company showed 1519 cars with 73,135 net tons of rock. The previous amount delivered on the contract was 272,315 tons, making a total up to the first of the month of $45,450 tons, or 19.48 per cent of the total contract on the 31st units. This was brought in 7374 cars and included 4432 tons of crushed rock used on the job to make the moles and bulkheads sandtight.

SAN DIEGO.—Preliminary plans are expected to lead to the construction of a beautiful Round-the-Bay drive for San Diego were outlined at a joint meeting of the city planning commission and the planning commission of the San Diego Realty board. The project was endorsed unanimously by those present, and steps will be taken at once to make this great scenic drive around the harborfront a reality. The drive is a part of the Nolen plan of city development, but because it is an improvement that would be so pre-eminent in the advancement of San Diego, it is the desire to put it through before other parts of the Nolen plan are perfected. It was decided to request the president of the civic committee of the chamber of commerce to appoint a capable committee to formulate a reasonably accurate estimate of the cost of building this harbor front driveway from the National City line to La Playa.

REDLANDS.—Cash prizes, silver cups and other valuable trophies will be awarded individuals who make special efforts to maintain Redlands' fame as a distinct and beautiful residential city, it is announced by officials of Redlands' horticultural and improvement society. In order to encourage still greater improvements that will extend to every section of the city, the society will conduct a city beautifying contest for six months, beginning June 1.

GIRARD.—The new Girard swimming tank will be opened on Saturday with the usual dedication ceremonies, with a program of high diving, swimming contests and other aquatic stunts. These events will be participated in by local valley swimmers and "mermaids" who will be brought from Los Angeles as an added interest to the entertainment planned. The new $10,000 pool is equipped with 50-foot diving towers, while the main tank is 45 feet wide with a depth of 12 feet for a distance of 35 feet. The program will be in honor of Fred Cady, Los Angeles Athletic club swimming instructor, who supervised the work while the handsome pool was being constructed.

GLENDALE.—The population of Glendale is placed at 70,000 following a survey conducted by city officials and public-service executives within the past few days. The addition of Casa-Verdugo at the recent election brought in 3720 more people, and a check, based on the number of light and water meters installed in the city, shows a total of 66,280 persons, which, with the Casa Verdugo population brings the number of residents in the city to 70,000 persons.

Charles H. Glaskill, employed in a sawmill in northern Minnesota, has hauled 68,000 bunches of standard laths in 10 hours, which is believed to be a world's record.

Kellogg Ant Paste People Offer New Ant Exterminator

While many years of experience have fully demonstrated the impossibility of developing a powder that would be as effective as their paste in the extermination of ants, the Kellogg Ant Paste people, appreciating the fact that some housewives prefer a powder for certain uses, even though less effective, have decided to add to their line of ant exterminator in powder form.

This new product will be marketed under the name of Kellogg's Ant Powder and will be available at all groceries, as well as at drug stores. The manufacturers state that all that is necessary is to sift a little of the powder where the ants congregate and you can watch them curl up and die.

At the same time preparations are being made for the production on a more extensive scale than ever of Kellogg's Ant Paste, the old reliable ant exterminator.

MATTER OF INFORMATION

Today, The Register is publishing in its news columns an article that is designed to set before the voters of Santa Ana a full and satisfactory statement as to why the Board of City Trustees is submitting a proposal for bonds by which money is to be raised to pay Santa Ana's share of extending the outfall sewer into the ocean, as ordered by the State Board of Health.

This article is intended to be informative, not argumentative. The Register feels that the public is entitled to all the facts in the matter, and has endeavored in this article to present them concisely and clearly.

On Monday a similar article will be published covering the proposal for bonds for a special public tax; next Wednesday, an article on the proposal for parks and equipment; on Friday, next week, an article on the proposal for a special tax for maintenance of a municipal band.

We believe that any constructive question that has to do with any of these four proposals ought to be answered as soon as possible. In fairness to those who have fathered these proposals questions ought to be asked at once so that ample opportunity can be had for answering them. These questions should be settled each on its merit. If there is anything that the public is not informed about, let the query be forthcoming now. The Board of City Trustees has laid its cards all on the table, we are sure. There has been no disposition on the part of city officials to cover anything up. However, there may be points that are perfectly clear to city officials, or to others at whose request the parks and equipment proposal and the special tax levy proposals were put on the ballot, that may not be clear to some of the voters.

In order to perform a public service in disseminating information on these important matters, The Register has arranged for this series of articles. In the preparation of them, we are endeavoring to forestall questions. However, to aid us in the preparation of the Monday, Wednesday and Friday articles, we ask that everyone who has a question to ask send that question to The Register immediately. The question may be asked in writing or it may be asked over the telephone by calling over 1650 for Horace Fine.

If today's article on the outfall sewer proposal leaves any questions unanswered, we ask that that question be asked, and we will endeavor to have it answered by someone who knows, and the answer published immediately.

A bond issue ought to be decided upon information, not upon conjecture or rumor. A set of facts, figures and conditions furnishes its own argument for or against a proposal. And that is what we are trying to give the voters of Santa Ana in this series of articles.

And now, having arranged to collect $30,000,000 a year from France, Americans will fall all over themselves to lend France another couple of hundred millions.

BETTER RADIO CONTROL

Hundreds of broadcasters and millions of radio fans are glad to know that at last there is a prospect of action on the part of Congress for the official regulation of radio. There is some difference of opinion, though, as to who should do the regulating, and how far it should go.

The bill introduced in the House would keep federal regulation of broadcasting where it has been hitherto—in the Department of Commerce—merely giving that department more authority than it has had in this matter. Secretary's Hoover's supervision of the industry has been rather by surferance than law. The public welcomed it; but a test case resulted in a court decision declaring his lack of power to control broadcasting and safeguard stations in the use of the wave-lengths given them. The House bill would remedy this situation, making regulation a definite power of the executive branch of government.

The Senate bill would place this power in the hands of an independent commission, answerable to no administrative department of the government. It is difficult to understand why the Senate should do this, unless from jealousy of the growing power of the Department of Commerce. The President favors cabinet control of radio, and the industry and public would probably prefer to see the control kept where it is.

PROSECUTING TRESPASSERS

In another section of the country a group of farmers is following the example of the New York staters who are going to take drastic action against marauding motorists who drive out into the country, despoiling farms and woods and fields as they go.

Tennessee farmers have determined to prosecute motorists who take laurel, rhododendron and dogwood, threatening those lovely native blooms with extinction. To help the farmers in their campaign, it has been arranged in Johnson City that the numbers of cars and the names of parties entering the city with such flowers be taken, and investigation as to trespassing be made.

That looks like tackling the problem at both ends. It is obvious that busy farmers, in the springtime, cannot spend much time by the roadside keeping trespassers off their property. But if trespassers are to be located and prosecuted even when they have temporarily evaded the farmers' vigilance, fewer persons will so gaily take up trespassing as a spring pastime.

MAINTENANCE NECESSARY

The Montgomery, Ala., Advertiser preaches a little sermon to its state on the text: "There is no such thing as a permanent highway; never has been, never will be, probably."

It elaborates the theme by declaring that the soundest of roads will give way under such terrific wear as modern transportation forces on them. The old Roman roads were good, but they have to be kept up and frequently resurfaced.

The Advertiser isn't out advocating poor roads.

Far from it. It wants the best sort of roads constructed throughout Alabama. But it also wants such roads maintained. There is little use putting large sums of money into new road construction if the highways are subsequently neglected. The importance of maintenance is too often overlooked.

Political retribution is more effective in France than anywhere else in the world. Every time a government does anything, it's fired.

Tree Planting Program

Riverside Press

Riverside was the leader among the cities of California in the planting and care of street trees; and results accomplished under the leadership of C. M. Loring and J. H. Reed are remembered as part of the city's history of which we are very proud. It must be admitted that in recent years Riverside has fallen behind other cities in this important phase of civic development; and it is therefore very gratifying to learn that the program of the park board for the coming year will stress the matter of better care of our shade trees and the replanting of sections where this work is urgently needed.

The report of Oscar Ford, former mayor of the city, on the matter of tree planting for the approaches of the city is highly interesting and constructive. It is to be hoped that the survey he has conducted will be made use of and that means will be found to carry out the program which he suggests. It is not to the credit of the city that street trees have been allowed to die on important thoroughfares for lack of care. This matter cannot be left to the initiative of property owners along the streets; many of them will co-operate but the responsibility of keeping up our splendid shade trees should rest with the city. The Press recognizes the limitations of the city in the matter of budget; but expenditures are made for purposes that in the judgment of the writer are far less important to the city than the maintenance of well shaded streets. This is an arid country, with periods of high temperature in summer; and nothing can mitigate those conditions like street trees.

We judge cities by their approaches and the West Riverside bridge is an example of a fine piece of work along that line. This bridge is so famous that a picture of it has been included in a text on civics recently published by Scribners; the bridge was selected as an illustration of an ideal approach to a city. The program suggested by Mr. Ford would supplement the bridge and other improvements that attract visitors who reach the city by auto along several streets that are recognized as entrance thoroughfares.

The Press hails this report as evidence of a revival of interest in tree planting for the city; and bespeaks for that program hearty public support and cordial co-operation by all civic bodies.

The Modern University

Oakland Tribune

In connection with the recent gift by one of the country's largest electric companies to Stanford University of one of the most powerful transformers ever built, transformers whose cost exceed $100,000—the freight charges alone amounting to $10,000—the Palo Alto Times editorially says:

"University campuses can no longer get along with 'North Hall,' 'Middle Hall,' and 'South Hall.' If lectures alone could impart all essential knowledge, the old simple campus—even a few benches and a library, or with a man of sufficient wisdom, even a log—would suffice. But 'natural science' cannot any longer be covered completely with a series of lectures. Students and professors both have to find out by testing and recording results with their own eyes, or the modern extensions and refinements of human eyes. Hence such prodigious enterprises as the Ryan laboratory.

Hence, also, the prodigious sums needed to run the modern university.

This, as the paper quoted says, "throws into sharp contrast the old-time definition of the 'best university' as a log with Mark Hopkins at one end and the student at the other." This conceit while quaint was not, even at the time it was uttered, entirely true. But it did emphasize the importance of personal direction and the worth of stimulating contact with forceful teachers.

The personal element still looms large, but in the sciences this must be supplemented by elaborate and sometimes very costly equipment.

HOW TO TREAT SHOCK

The word shock, like many other English words has various meanings. A very commonly accepted meaning refers to a sudden and violent sensation such as produced by a plunge into icy cold water. Or, shock may mean a sensation experienced when the mind is suddenly agitated by a startling emotion.

The term shock as used by physicians usually refers to graver conditions, particularly to prostration of bodily functions following sudden injuries or extensive surgical operations.

Electric shock is still another form of this often serious and even dangerous condition. When a person is suffering from shock, his face is pale and has an anxious expression; the eyelids droop, the eyes are dull and the pupils large; the skin is clammy and covered with cold perspiration; the victim is somewhat stupid in appearance and takes little interest in things about him.

He may suffer from nausea and vomiting. He may answer questions slowly. He may be partly or totally unconscious, or his mind may wander. Usually he is perfectly quiet and will not move unless disturbed. Breathing is shallow and feeble; the pulse is rapid and weak, and may not be perceptible at the wrist.

When the condition of shock is observed send for a doctor at once. Place the person in a comfortable position with his head low, unless there is a fracture of the skull or severe hemorrhage from blood vessels of the head or face.

Remove from the patient's mouth all foreign bodies, such as false teeth, tobacco or gum. Wrap him in warm blankets or in warm clothing. Place well-wrapped hot-water bottles or hot bricks around the patient.

A light hot-water bottle, wrapped in cloth or paper and placed over the heart is a good stimulant.

If he is conscious, give aromatic spirits of ammonia—a teaspoonful in half a glass of water, moderately hot coffee, hot tea, or hot water.

If the patient is unconscious do not give him anything by mouth, but pour aromatic spirits of ammonia on a cloth and place it under his nose. This should be tested by the person rendering assistance by holding it under his own nose before giving the treatment to the patient.

Although shock is dangerous and commonly follows injuries, it must not be forgotten that the person suffering from shock may require treatment for something still more dangerous; as for example severe bleeding which must be checked.

Read the Boy's Reply

Oakland Tribune

As a way of celebrating Boys' Week the Turlock Tribune turned an issue of its paper over to boy editors, and a good issue they put out. Perhaps from the editorials of these boys may be gained some knowledge of what is going on in the heads of the coming generation. If so, adults who are eternally professing to be startled and shocked at the ways of youth, may take on some assurance.

Writes one boy, Walter Tomkins: "The plan of Boys' Week is not only to provide fun for the boys; but it is to prepare them for the bigger, more serious duties of civil government that will confront them when they take the place of the present older generation."

And he has this to say in reply to those men of the older generation who have won a moment of attention by making serious charges against boys of today:

"One man even states that hip-flasks were openly carried by ninety per cent of the boys in high school and that cigarette smoking among girls was prevalent. We resent the accusation that this condition might be true, even to a lesser extent, in Turlock high school.

"There is nothing that is farther from the truth. So far as the rank and file of the students is concerned there never was a flask displayed on the campus of Turlock high school. If there were any carried they were so carefully concealed that not a single student other than the culprit, knew of it. As for smoking among the girls, such a practice is absolutely unknown in this school."

Simply because smoking may be tolerated in certain colleges for women, says this boy editor "there is no justification for certain persons to hint that such a condition is true in our own community, thereby putting a taint on the reputation of our young people."

Perhaps the boy writer reached the readers he wished to reach. It is so easy to make sweeping statements in condemnation of youth that more than one seeker of attention has slandered that very population which is most in need of encouragement.

Here is what another of the boy editors, Raymond Lindahl, says: "What is better than to train boys at an early age when their learning faculties are receptive to instruction? If they are taught and led right in that period, respecting morality, justice and democracy, our coming generation will be of a high standard. Every generation must of necessity be given proper instruction on these vital questions which concern the virility and status of our republic."

Worth While Verse

BABY

Where did you come from, baby dear?
Out of the every where into here.

Where did you get those eyes so blue?
Out of the sky as I came through.

What makes the light in them sparkle and spin?
Some of the starry twinkles left in.

Where did you get that little tear?
I found it waiting when I got here.

What makes your forehead so smooth and high?
A soft hand stroked it as I went by.

What makes your cheek like a warm white rose?
I saw something better than anyone knows.

Whence that three-cornered smile of bliss?
Three angels gave me at once a kiss.

Where did you get this pearly ear?
God spoke, and it came out to hear.

Where did you get those arms and hands?
Love made itself into bonds and bands.

Feet, whence did you come, you darling things?
From the same box as the cherub's wings.

How did they all just come to be you?
God thought about me, and so I grew.

But how did you come to us, you dear?
God thought about you, and so I'm here.

—George MacDonald.

The Patchwork Quilt

BY ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT
(Have you any patches to add to it?)

MOTHER'S DAY
You wear red flowers. What a joy is yours—
A mother's love is still your very own.
That love and dear companionship endure
Of one who makes a little house, a home.

You wear red flowers. A gracious mother lives;
You know the tender loyalty and care
That never asks, but ever freely gives
Of perfect faith and sympathy so rare.

Yours then, to know the fount of sacrifice
From one who takes the bitter, leaves the sweet.
Your conquests send her spirits to the skies;
Her understanding helps you to bear defeat.

The courage that is hers the dark night through
Will help you wait in patience for the light.
You wear red flowers. Ah, happy happy you.
Ah, lonely day! My flowers, you see, are white.

CHRONICLES OF THE LITTLE GRAY HOUSE

"Hey Mom!" cried Sonny in that gentle, deferential manner he has of addressing his maternal ancestor in the Little Gray House. "Hey Mom!" I'm glad I get to wear a red flower on Mother's Day. And all the "Hey Moms" in the world could not spoil for me, the sincerity and love underlying the brusque little speech. A speech, that with the rough and readiness of twelve (that savage age for little boys) could not disguise the happiness of having a living mother for whom a red posy might be worn.

Oh happy little boys who may wear red flowers on Mother's Day. Oh happy mothers whose little boys rejoice—even though it takes the form of a "Hey Mom!"

Dear Patcher Lady:

The enclosed poem was read by Dr. C. C. Stephenson at the Brotherhood banquet at the M. E. church, south recently. I thought it so very much worth while that I asked him for a copy for your Quilt. Doubtless you are familiar with it. But I am sure thousands of your readers would enjoy it.

Don't you think that the first four lines of the second stanza describe, in beautiful words, the whole Philosophy of Life?

McCIPHER

THE TAPESTRY WEAVERS

Let us take to our hearts a lesson—no lesson can braver be—
From the ways of the tapestry weavers on the other side of the sea.
Above their heads the pattern hangs they study it with care.

The while their fingers deftly move, their eyes are fastened there.
They tell this curious thing besides of the patient, plodding weaver:
He works on the wrong side evermore, but works for the right side ever.

It is only when the weaving stops, and the web is loosed and turned,
That he sees his real handiwork, that his marvelous skill is learned.

Ah, the sight of its delicate beauty, how it pays him for all his cost!
No rarer, daintier work than his was ever done by the frost.
Then the master bringeth him gold—en hire, and giveth his praise as well.

And how happy the heart of the weaver is, no tongue but his own can tell.

The years of man are the looms of God, let down from the place of the sun;

Wherein we are weaving ever, till the mystic web is done.
Weaving blindly, but weaving surely, each for himself his fate—
We may not see how the right side looks, we can only weave and wait.

But, looking above for the pattern, no weaver hath to fear,
Only let him look clear into heaven, the Perfect Pattern is there.
If he keeps the face of the Savior forever and always in sight
His toil shall be sweeter than honey, his weaving sure to be right
And when the work is ended, and the web is turned and shown,
He shall hear the voice of the Master, it shall say to him, "Well done."

And the white winged Angels of Heaven, to bear him thence shall come down:
And God shall give him gold for his hire—not coin—but a glowing crown.

ANSON G. CHESTER, M. D.
This poem has as wonderful a history as the man who wrote it. It has been published in all the modern languages, including Hindustani, Chinese and Japanese. It appeared first in the Century magazine.

Dr. Williamson of London has issued hundreds of thousands of copies of it in leaflets, having gone to press with it four times within the past year. The University of Tokio gave it out for interpretation to four hundred students who were asked to send Dr. Chester their interpretations.

Dear Patcher Lady:

While I was snooping 'round in Big Brother's room, the other day, hoping to find chewing-gum or lemon drops, I found a piece of paper—being the "dope sheet" on the Indoor Baseball teams, as figured out by his gang. On this sheet it said—

1.—"Tiernan Typewriter Co.—got right type alright, but too clunky."
2.—Chandler Furniture Co.—a well seasoned lot of hardwood; still it can be splintered.

3.—F. C. Blauer Grocery.—Contains the flour of the flock in some weight; may get sacked if they are out for the dough.

4.—Fluor Construction Co.—Hard hitters and can stand a lot of pounding.

5.—Southern Counties Gas Co.—It's a 'pipe' for them, if they don't gas too much about it.

6.—Excelsior Creamery Co.—The cream of the organization, but may sour on the game before the finish.

7.—Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.—Swift as greased lightning, but they overwork the signals.

8.—Arnold Peek Meat Market.—Bound to win, because they are sure to bring home the bacon.

LITTLE SISTER

Dear Patcher:
Is there room for a new competitor? Anyway, after reading last week's Quilt I just had to get in the running: "A Lover, Bearing Gifts" will certainly elicit a hearty response from many quarters, but I'm hoping it was particularly meant for me, so—

Dear Lady, who makes Quilts with pen,
I've heard your siren call again,
And, like the mariner at sea,
Your promises are meant for me.
How did you know I craved the moon?

My eager heart accepts this boon.
And I will grasp those roseate skies.

To blend with the blue of your heavenly eyes
And the soft brown tints of your lovely hair,
And help you weave the cliffon, my Fair!

And yes! I'd like the sweet flower scents—
I'll choose my own, if your heart allows—
So let's have roses and orange blooms—
'Tis claimed they'll banish all cares and glooms;

And, since you've promised the rainbow, too,
I'll be rich as Croesus if only you
Will help me hunt for the pot of gold;

The hunting's good; and the game is old!

Florida as Visited

R. J. Blee, Orange avenue, brought a clipping to the Register, taken from the News, Ravenna, Neb., reading as follows.

One who has been to Florida recently, since the boom reached big proportions, can tell the accurate, prevailing estimate of that state by a writer in the Sparta, Mich., Sentinel:

Florida is the chin whiskers of the United States. It is six hundred miles long, two hundred miles wide and three feet high. It is bounded on the north by the eighteenth amendment and on the other three sides by the three-mile limit.

Florida is inhabited by Indians, Americans, white men and feed-bag tourists, sometimes called tin-canners. The reds live on the everglades, the blacks live on the whites, and the whites live on the tourists, and the tin-canners on the municipal camping grounds.

Florida's principal sources of income are hotels, fruits, alligator skins, tourists and the vest-pocket press agents of California. But the one big outstanding feature of Florida is its fruit. Orange raising coming first of course. Raising oranges in Florida is a cinch; all that is required is enough money to live on while raising them.

The next Florida fruit is the grapefruit. A grapefruit is a cross between a lemon, a dose of quinine and a pumpkin. It has the color and disposition of a blonde ticket seller at a movie-picture show. It is usually eaten at breakfast, thus combining the advantages of a meal and a morning shower-bath at the same time.

The tangerine is a distant cousin of the orange. It wears a loose and careless Mother Hubbard style of wrapper and is much easier to disrobe than the orange, but it has a more dry, withered and disappointed disposition when undressed.

The Kumquat is the only thing in Florida that lives up to its name. It looks and acts just the way it sounds.

YOU CAN'T ADMIRE THE PLUCK THAT RUINS NATURE—
